HOW POLICE GET CONFESSIONS WILL BE INVESTIGATED BY GRAND JURY

Instructions Given by Judge Grimm in Whose Court Two Men Recently Were Freed of Murder Charges After They Had Repudiated Confessions.

WANTS JUSTICE BOTH TO POLICE AND PUBLIC

Jurat Ascertains "the Difficulty of Securing Evidence for Conviction Does Not Justify Resort to Unlawful Methods."

A grand jury investigation of police methods of obtaining confessions from arrested persons was ordered today by Judge Grimm.

Jurat in Judge Grimm's court last month acquitted Albert Ellis and Henry Melton, both accused of murder, and both of whom had made signed statements to the police.

Comment of Judge Grimm: "Defendants on trial have testified that they were coerced in making confessions by acts of cruelty and torture. Such testimony should be received with great caution and due allowance must be made for the fact that it is to the interest of defendants to make such claims. However, there seems to be a widespread belief that threats, cruelty and torture have been resorted to in order to secure confessions."

The fact that such an impression exists is seen in the verdicts of juries in cases where confessions to police are relied upon for conviction. If such methods have been resorted to then the practice should be discontinued at once, for it is a violation of the right of persons under arrest who, notwithstanding their arrest, are presumed by our law to be innocent.

On the other hand, if this impression is erroneous, then justice to the police department as well as to the public interest requires that it be corrected.

Law in Case Cited. Judge Grimm cited section 2681 of the revised statutes of 1919 which require that all constituted officers of the law shall not resort to third degree methods and which makes it a misdemeanor punishable either by fine or imprisonment or by both, if such practice is resorted to.

"I call attention to this section of the statute to show that the Legislature has deemed it proper not only to make a practice of this character unlawful but that those resorting to such shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and may be punished by fine or imprisonment or by both."

The court does not wish to be understood as making the charge against the police department, but merely bringing to your attention the fact that there exists a widespread belief that does not aid in the administration of criminal justice.

Recognizes Police Difficulties. "I recognize the difficulty the Police Department has to contend with, as the public is looking to it to ferret out and convict those guilty of crime. If it fails it is subjected to severe criticism, but on the other hand when persons on trial are released the public theory is that he or she is an innocent person."

The difficulty of securing evidence for conviction does not justify any resort to unlawful methods."

Price of Gasoline Up One Cent. The price of gasoline advanced one cent, from 20.5 to 21.5 cents per gallon, at all Standard Oil filling stations today. It was announced at the Standard Oil office in the Syndicate Trust Building that the increased cost of marketing and the advance in price of crude petroleum were responsible for the new price.

GERMAN CHILD KILLED WHEN FRENCH SOLDIER DROPS RIFLE IN FALL

By the Associated Press. DUISBURG, Germany, Feb. 5. A little German girl was accidentally killed yesterday and another wounded by bullet from the rifle of a French Corporal. The Corporal fell while ascending the stairs to the bridge over the railroad tracks and dropped his rifle, which exploded.

Gen. Degoutte sent condolences to the parents of the child. The occupational authorities have taken charge of the funeral arrangements for the girl killed and will provide for her family. The Corporal was so unnerved by the accident that he attempted to end his life.

PETITION FOR RETURN OF FLASK IS DENIED

Judge Faris Decides Liquor Container Is Contraband and an Outlaw.

The flask is contraband and an outlaw. Federal Judge Faris declared today, in denying the request of George Lurie for the silver flask which was taken from him when he was arrested by a prohibition enforcement agent in Cafferata's cafe, the night of Dec. 23.

Judge Faris questioned the witnesses in the case as to the use made of flasks, and said in announcing his decision: "The facts as detailed by the testimony are such that I must overrule the motion (for the return of the flask), but if they were not such, I would not return it. A flask can be used for only one thing—that is, to carry liquor in violation of law. Therefore, it is contraband and an outlaw."

The fact that the officers had not seen the flask's contents was unimportant, the judge said, since a flask has but one use. He commented that if a man were arrested for carrying a revolver, it would not be necessary to examine the weapon to see if it contained cartridges.

Lurie's case was dismissed for lack of evidence by Assistant Attorney General Dyott. He was arrested in the cafe raid by Deputy Prohibition Agent Officer Fugate. Detective Sergeant Glasco had seen him transferring the flask from one pocket to another.

"How long have flasks been in use?" Judge Faris asked the officers. Sgt. Glasco said two years, but Gatter raised this to 15 years, to his knowledge, a statement which seemed to surprise the court.

Chief Prohibition Enforcement Agent Nations announced after the hearing that he would apply to Commissioner Berry this afternoon for a warrant charging Lurie with possession and transportation of liquor, based on Lurie's admissions in his testimony.

Lurie resides at 7143 Forsythe boulevard and is president of the Missouri Grove Co., 6299 Maple avenue.

PEIS APPEAL TO CABINET OFFICERS IN TRIPPETT CASE

Organization Declares Federal Agents Are Hostile Toward Attempt to Expose Drug and Liquor Traffic.

COPIES OF LETTER SENT TO PRESIDENT

"Almost a Conspiracy to Prevent Disclosure of Serious Violations of Law," Statement Charges.

The Executive Committee of the Missouri Branch, Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, which is conducting a light wine and beer campaign, has appealed to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Attorney-General Daugherty. In its controversy with St. Louis officials of the enforcement of prohibition and the anti-narcotic law.
A letter addressed to the two Cabinet officers, and signed by George G.
Voss, secretary of the organization,
was made public today. It was stated that copies of this letter had been sent to President Harding and to the Missouri members of Congress.

As has been told, the organization asked with John C. Dwyer, assistant to the Attorney-General in enforcement of the prohibition and narcotic laws here, over the procedure to be followed in the case of H. W. Trippett, charged with the unlawful sale of morphine. Dwyer would not give assurance of immunity to the association's two agents who made affidavits that they had purchased morphine from Trippett for the purpose of such promise of immunity, the two agents did not appear for Trippett's preliminary hearing Saturday, and his case was continued to Feb. 16.

In his letter to the two Cabinet officers, Secretary Voss of the anti-prohibition body says:
"While this organization is opposed to the political theory of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, yet we believe in the honest and unflinching enforcement of these laws so long as they are unrepealed. Hence this organization was prompted to undertake a private investigation into local conditions of prohibition enforcement, by reason of widespread reports of an expanding unlawful traffic in alcohol; but being unmarked upon Federal inquiry, we made known its purpose to the Attorney-General of Missouri, Jesse W. Barrett, and received his approval to co-operate with him in efforts thus to render a needed public service. Every step in the course of the investigation was known to the Attorney-General as it proceeded.

"Adopted a Hostile Attitude" Immediately upon turning over to the Federal prohibition officials of Missouri the affidavits and other evidence of unlawful traffic undermined, not only in liquor but in morphine as well, these Federal officials adopted a hostile attitude, not toward those exposed as engaged in these unlawful practices, but toward the undersigned for disclosing such conditions. The chief of the Federal enforcement Agent of St. Louis (Gus D. Scanavy), and the Special Assistant Attorney-General in charge of local prosecutions have even carried off opposition to the point of challenging with prosecution an innocent those who thus sought in good faith to co-operate in purging
the community of crime, as may be seen from their menacing letter published in the Globe-Democrat accompanying this letter. This attitude has resulted in the intimidation and disappearance of an essential witness in the case of Trippett.

"Not only have these Federal officials threatened with prosecution
those who have submitted evidence of unlawful traffic in liquor and morphine, while retaining the point of view of the investigation, but they have denounced the Attorney-General of this State, whose assistance in the discovery is possible. In this surprising situation, amounting almost to conspiracy to prevent the disclosure of the most serious violations of law, it appears hopeless to look for any adequate assistance locally toward a thorough-going ex-posure of local corruption.

"We submit that the conditions revealed by the enclosed affidavits and exhibits are of such a grave and important character as to warrant a full and unprejudiced investigation.
Investigation Asked For.
We, therefore, respectfully request that an investigation be ordered through a disinterested branch of your department to the end that the scandalous conditions obtaining in this community be removed. If such an inquiry is ordered, we render you our earnest co-operation."

In connection with the letter, copies of affidavits recently made by members of the anti-prohibition organization, as to the alleged sale of whisky, alcohol and morphine by Trippett, and as to an alleged $500
bribe in connection with an alcohol license hearing on the affidavits, were sent.

OBJECTIONS TO DECREE IN SALE OF M. K. & T. HEARD

Kansas City Terminal Railway Co.
Demands That Contract Made Before Receivership Be Honored.
Objections to the form of the final decree in the sale of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad are being heard today by Judge Sanborn of the United States Circuit Court, sitting
as United States District Judge.
The chief objector is the Kansas City Terminal Railway Co., which asks the court to reserve jurisdiction over contract disputes between it and the "Katy." The terminal company demands that the contract entered into before the receivership be carried out. The M-K-T. wants to withdraw from the terminal association, build its own station and maintain its own terminals.
The terminal company insists that the M-K-T. owes its share of the cost of establishing the Kansas City terminals and building the Union Station, and that the railroad should be held for its share of the indebtedness of several million dollars growing out of the building of the station and establishment of the terminal.
Clifford Allen, a St. Louis attorney, objects to the final decree on behalf of Missouri shippers who have claims for overcharges aggregating

PRINCESS YOLANDA ENGAGED

Calvi di Bergolo, is announced, says
an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome this afternoon.
The unofficial matchmakers of the continent long have been busy with the name of Princess Yolanda.
Reports that she found much credence that her engagement to the Crown Prince of Belgium would be announced next summer. At times
there have been rumors that she would marry the Prince of Wales.

HENRY B. GRAHAM'S INSURANCE TO GO TO HIS CHILDREN

Circuit Judge Hall Decides Case Involving About $19,000 Against Heirs of Mrs. Graham.
Circuit Judge Hall today determined a question involving the payment of two $10,000 insurance policies on the life of Henry B. Graham, who was shot and killed by his chauffeur in November, 1921. The decision was that the money, which the defendant does not wish to pay,
should be paid to trustees representing Graham's children, and not to other trustees representing the relatives of Mrs. Graham, who killed herself after her husband's death.
Graham in 1916 placed his property, including the two insurance policies, in the hands of the American Trust Co. and John E. Bishop as trustees, representing the interests of his children. After his marriage
he sought to get the policies from the trustees, in order to make them payable to his wife, but the trustees would not release them. He then notified the insurance company, the John Hancock Mutual Life, that he desired the policies to be payable to his wife.

The insurance company brought
the matter before the Circuit Court, stating that the St. Louis Union Trust Co., representing Mrs. Graham's estate, had made a claim for the money. The company, therefore, sought judicial guidance before paying anyone. Judge Hall decided in favor of the American Trust Co. and Bishop.

BOY ADMITS 12 ROBBERIES

By the Associated Press.
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 5.— Leon Ralph Linscott, 15 years old of Wichita, Kan., who confessed that he had robbed a flour mill at Wichita
and more than a dozen houses there, was arrested yesterday when he was asleep in the Santa Fe depot here.
The boy told the police he had given to his father jewelry he had obtained from the Wichita houses. Police at Wichita were notified, and replied that the boy was wanted
there.

2 PERSONS DEAD, 2 MISSING AFTER FIRE IN WICHITA

Eight Dangerously Burned
When Fire Destroys Building Where Many Aged Persons Lived.

By the Associated Press.
WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 5.—Two dead, two others missing and eight dangerously burned was the known toll this afternoon in a fire which early today destroyed the four-story Gott apartment building here. Two unidentified bodies have been removed from the smoldering ruins at noon. Among those reported missing today were: Miss Nellie Anderson, Mrs. Nettie Shaver and Cleon Woods.

Planes were discovered shortly after 3 a. m. and at that time escape
by the north stairway was impossible. Many of the occupants of the burning building said doors opened safely. Only a few had time to don clothing, firemen said.
There were 36 apartments in the upper stories of the building. In these apartments a majority of the dwelling were reported to be aged,
some of them feeble. There were business firms on the main floor.

The cause of the fire has not been determined. The flames gained headway before the fire alarm was noticed that it was impossible to check them when the apparatus arrived.
Four persons were seen to appear at windows, if reported, and then disappeared.

Eight persons were taken immediately to Wichita hospitals and 24
others were treated at a nearby hotel. Some of the injured were badly burned. They were unable to use arms or legs. One woman was reported to have lost all her hair.

MANDAMUS WRIT SOUGHT HERE IN KANSAS CITY FRAUD CASE

Judges Sanborn, Kenyon and Stone of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today granted to W. B. Bos-tetter, a Kansas City attorney, leave to file application for a writ of mandamus against United States District
Judge Van Valkenburgh of Kansas City. The request was made by Bos-tetter, who would require Judge Van Valkenburgh to enter judgment on a plea of nolo contendere, entered before him last week by W. E. Stewart, a defendant in a fraud case, in which Bostetter was charged with using apparently to defraud, in sale of land in the Rio Grande Valley in Texas.

Judge Van Valkenburgh, it was stated, first accepted the plea of nolo contendere, which means that the defendant does not wish to contest the charge. He then set the plea aside, and ordered the trial to proceed. The case has been set for this week.

In granting Bostetter leave to file
his application for a writ of mandamus, the judges directed that the District Attorney for the Western District of Missouri should appear before them tomorrow. He will be heard before the writ is granted or denied.

SHARE OF LAMBERT COMPANY PAYING $150 MONTHLY DIVIDEND

Figures Disclosed by Final Settle-

Dividends of approximately $150 a month are paid by shares by the Lambert Pharmaceutical Co., manufacturing chemists, according to a final settlement filed in Probate Court today by the curators of the estate of Jordan W. Lambert, who recently attained his majority.
Lambert Sr., former vice president of the Missouri Pacific, died in 1917
and killed himself Aug. 7, 1917.
The settlement shows the son holds 11 1/8 shares of the company stock, which give a return of $156.66 a month. Part value of the stock is listed at $100 a share. The St. Louis Union Trust Co. remains curator for a younger brother, Barnard Proctor Lambert, who received an equal share in the estate of his father.

NIXON PERSONALTY $201,605

An inventory of the estate of Warren C. Nixon, vice president of the Western Tie and Timber Co., who died Jan. 26 when filed in Probate Court today. It shows personality valued at $201,605, of which $20,000 is life insurance, the remainder consisting of securities in corporations, including $150,000 of stock in the company of which he was vice president.
After a few minor bequests to relatives, the estate is to be kept in trust for his widow, Mrs. Golda M.
Nixon, his mother, Jane M. Nixon, and his stepson, Donald P. Morrison, son of the widow by a former marriage.
The widow is named as executrix.
Nixon resided at the St. Regis apartment.

Negro Arrested After Shooting

Columbus Berton, 33, a negro, of 212 North Tenth street, St. Charles, was arrested today at Taylor and Cook avenues and identified by Sheriff Grothe of St. Charles as the man who shot Moses Bannon, 40 years old, negro poolroom proprietor, there last night. Bannon was wounded above the heart and is not expected to recover. Berton told the police he intended the bullet
for another negro, who had hit him with a billiard cue and Bannon had stepped between.

SHERIFF COMPLAINS OF OFFICE; "BRAINS BAKE, FEET FREEZE"

Attention of Circuit Judges Called to Conditions in Basement Quarters.
Sheriff Mohrstadt appeared before the Circuit Judges today, to complain of conditions in the rooms in the courthouse basement which he occupies, with an office force of 12 and a larger number of deputies who are in the office a part of the time.

He said he removed the Sheriff's office from the former rented quarters across the street, in the Times Building, to save the city $1000 a year rent. The basement quarters, he said, have "little ventilation, and the radiators are on the ceilings of the low rooms, so that, he said,
"brains bake while feet freeze."

The Judges said they would look into the matter. An appeal to the City Building Department, headed by Director for Public Safety McKelvey, has brought no relief.

MAN SHOTS HIMSELF AND WALKS TO POLICE STATION

Fell and Called for Help for a Time
—"Guess I Made a Mistake," He Says at Hospital.
Louis Staudinger, 38, of 3543 Crittenden street, a traveling salesman, shot himself in the left breast just over the heart today at 10:30 a. m.
in Tower Grove Park, across Grand avenue from the Magnolia Avenue Police Station.

It is a critical condition at the city hospital. To a reporter they he said that after wounding himself he fell and remained on the ground, calling for help for a time. An automobile paused and its driver looked about for a few seconds, then went on. Staudinger thereupon rose and walked to the police station, where he told the police what he had done.
"I guess I made a mistake," he said. "People are awful kind when you're sick."

"I have been nervous and worrying about little things for several weeks," he continued. "I went to a doctor. He told me to quit worrying.
That's what I was trying to do, but couldn't. I had no serious troubles, just little things."

Staudinger has a wife and two young daughters.

DAMAGE IN CHARLESTON (ILL.) FIRES ESTIMATED AT $150,000

Many Persons Rescued in Night Clothes—Man, Overcome by Coughing, Dies.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHARLESTON, Ill., Feb. 5.—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Boyer Ice Cream Co.'s building and plant here about midnight Saturday.
At 1 a. m. Sunday another fire started in the old armory and opera house, at Fifth and Monroe streets,
and destroyed the Daily News building, a paint store, two barber shops,
a pool room, a rooming house, the Richard Cade building, a cafe. The damage is estimated at $150,000, of which $50,000 is the newspaper's loss.
A fire wall stopped the progress of the flames.

Many occupants of rooms on the second floors of the burned buildings were carried to the street in their night clothes. James Guiney was overcome with coughing and died in a few minutes. "James Dornblaser and Homer Rennels are in a critical condition. Clarence Haskell, driver of a Mattoon, fire engine, made a 45-minute drive to Charleston, and was severely frost-bitten, being carried from his engine. Little insurance was carried.

PRICES OF OLD STAMPS HIGHER

One of Bavaria Brings $120—Laid to European Conditions.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Shifting political conditions in Europe have brought new, to postage stamp collectors, according to collectors from all parts of the country who met here yesterday.

The rising prices for stamps and the increasing difficulty in keeping complete collections were reflected in prices at an auction in connection with the meeting. A 1-kroner Bavarian stamp of 1849 brought $120, and a prewar German East African cancellation was held for $105.

A 24-cent airplane stamp on the cover sent from New York to London
by the R-34 in the first transatlantic air flight, was sold for $25.

DRIVER HELD IN CASE OF WOMAN KILLED BY AUTO

Verdict of Criminal Carelessness
at Inquiry Into Death of Miss Jennie Doyle, 70.

A Coroner's verdict of criminal carelessness, holding Thomas Potter, 29 years old, an awning worker,
of 4240 A Evans avenue, was returned today in the case of Miss Jennie Doyle, 70 years old, who died Friday evening of a fractured skull and internal injuries suffered in an accident at Cardinal and Easton avenues a short time previously.

It was at first supposed she was struck by an automobile truck. Potter was driving a small coupe at that corner, and testified he saw Miss Doyle lying on the street and could not stop until her body was beneath his car. His bond was fixed at $10,000.

F. W. Erb of 4556 Evans avenue and John Norris of 1417 Clara avenue, motorman and conductor, respectively, of an eastbound Wellston car, testified that an automobile truck was being driven ahead of their car as they approached Cardinal avenue; and that a coupe was in front of that; and both machines were running slowly, they said, and street made vision difficult. Suddenly, they said, the coupe stopped at the curb and the truck drove ahead of it and stopped. They helped remove Miss Doyle from beneath the coupe.

Herman Mesman, 24, of 5193 Kensington avenue, driver of the truck,
testified he saw a woman try to cross
the street in front of the coupe, going from north to south, and that he stopped when the driver of the coupe called to him to help pick up Miss Doyle. Mesman said he took Potter's niece, Miss Dolly Owen, who resides at Potter's home and who had been riding in the coupe, to a physician's office, where Potter took Miss Doyle. Mesman said he then followed Potter and Miss Doyle to the Baptist Hospital, then departed.

At the strength of Potter's previous statement that the driver of the truck had disappeared, the police had been looking for the latter.
Potter testified that about 10 feet
west of Cardinal avenue he had seen a woman lying in the street,
and exclaimed to his niece, "Oh, Dolly!" He was sure his car did not strike the woman, but had only passed over her body before he could stop. Miss Owen testified that she had felt no jolt and didn't think the coupe had hit Miss Doyle. The latter died when being taken from the Baptist to the City hospital.

EIGHT DAMAGE SUITS TAKEN TO THE UNITED STATES COURTS

Circuit Judge Comments on Ousting of Firms Pleading "Diversity of Residence" in Transfer Requests.
"I can't understand why corporations doing business in Missouri,
enjoying the benefits of public trade
here and asking the protection of the State laws, still can't seem to trust
the State courts, but must carry cases whenever possible before Federal tribunals," Circuit Judge Hall declared today, at the opening of the February term of the St. Louis Circuit Court.

Attorneys representing eight corporations with establishments in Missouri had asked removal from State to Federal courts of personal injury damage suits against their clients on the ground that the defendants, being incorporated in other states,
came under a diversity of residence rule of the United States Supreme Court providing that such cases be taken to the Federal courts. Under the mandatory ruling, however,
Judge Hall ordered the removals.

train.

FROST ON GULF COAST; FRUIT UNDAMAGED

Temperature in Lower Rio Grande Valley Barely Below Freezing Point.

By the Associated Press.
HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 5.—Frost was reported from the Gulf coast this morning with the coldest weather
in four years, but little damage was caused. Citrus fruit and truck in the lower Rio Grande Valley escaped virtually unscathed. It was announced by the Houston Weather Bureau. Thermometers in the valley went barely below the freezing point. Brownsville registering 36 degrees, Brownsville 34, and Corpus Christi 32. Growers took precautions by lighting smudge pots and other fires.
Only the most tender vegetation could have been damaged by the frost in the valley. Weather Bureau officials said, was made Houston's minimum was 23.8 degrees, the coldest since January, 1919. A light snow, mixed with rain and sleet, was registered yesterday morning.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 5.—Six inches of snow had fallen in Knoxville up to midnight. There was 4 1/2 inches in Memphis. A severe glaze storm raged last night in many parts of the State. Vicksburg, Miss., reported a snow and sleet storm
which demolished traffic.

Estimates 25 Per Cent of Cattle on Open Ranges Were Lost

By the Associated Press.
BEAUMONT, Tex., Feb. 5.—An estimate that 25 per cent of approximately 30,000 cattle in the open ranges of Jefferson County, Texas, had been lost in the cold weather of yesterday and last night, was made today by Joe Broussard, a livestock raiser, who returned at noon from an inspection of the range. He said 45 head of cattle out of his herd of 150 had died of exposure.

Experimenting in Smokeless Coal.

By the Associated Press.
CARDIFF, Feb. 5.—Sir London Togers, who has been in the city for probably will be due to the thought of John Roberts of this city, who has invented a new process of carbon-izing coal. It is claimed that under this process a mixture of slack coal is subjected to a temperature of between 600 and 700 degrees centi-grade, resulting in the production of a bright smokeless coal which does not soot chimneys and is absolutely smokeless.

Woman Dies of Hydrophobia.
By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 5.—Mrs. Sarah E. Stark, 56, died yesterday of hydrophobia.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG
It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to set on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 50c.

TELEPHONE THIRTS ROBBERS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NAPOLÉON, Mo., Feb. 5.—When the door of the safe in the National Bank here was blasted off last Friday morning, the telephone receiver was jarred off the hook. A signal was flashed to the telephone switchboard, operated by Miss Mary Wulfschlaeger. To her answer, "Number?" there was no answer, and she immediately notified the bank cashier. She also asked a man living across the street from the bank if he could see anybody in the bank. He replied that a man stood outside the bank. She relayed this information to the cashier.

Apparently the ringing of the telephone in the home across from the bank was heard by the robbers, who fled. The telephone and telegraph lines leading south and west out of town had been cut. The robbers got only $23 from a till.

LACK OF COUGHS HELPS CLEVELAND SYMPHONY

Orchestra, Four Years Old, Described as Amazing Because of Solidity.

By DEEMS TAYLOR.

Music Critic of the New World.
CLEVELAND, Feb. 5.—I heard the Cleveland Orchestra play Thursday night in its own home town. To one who has heard the Cleveland Orchestra play recently it will hardly come as a revelation to hear that it is a good orchestra and it sounded just as well in Masonic Hall as it did in Carnegie Hall a fortnight ago.

Masonic Hall, by the way, is an excellent and unusual auditorium. It is a huge place holding 3500 persons with a comparatively small parquette surrounded by a horse-shoe of ground-floor boxes, above which tiers of seats rise in an unbroken stairway very much like a Greek theater except that the circle is not complete. The proscenium opening and orchestra platform are like those of the usual concert hall. As a result of this arrangement of seats, the sound rises even to the topmost seats without being muffled or distorted by overhanging balconies.

The audience made one "feet at home" instantly as a fair proportion of it arrived late and trooped in between the first and second movements of the symphony. There must be thousands of American concert-goers who have never heard the first movement of any symphony just as there are scores of music critics who never have heard the last act of an opera. In one respect last night's audience established a record never even approached by New York listeners. No body coughed, except during the intermissions.

A Brilliant Performance.
The concert began with "The New World" symphony, one of those works that are so popular that hardly anyone bothers to play them any more. Sokoloff not only dared to play it, but had evidently ventured to do something still more bizarre—rehearse it. The result was as brilliant and stirring a performance as one could wish to hear. For once, the second movement with its notorious English horn solo was not sentimentalized to death. For all its melancholy language it had an underlying vital urge that kept alive and vibrant.

The scherzo went with electric crispness and lightness, and the finale with its full throated brass fanfares was positively thrilling. Sokoloff's reading throughout was distinguished not only for its beautiful balance and glowing color, but for a certain "forward" thrusting quality that allowed no one to forget that Dvorak came of a slinging race and was writing about dancing men.

The orchestra displayed its familiar excellence. It has attained a degree of solidity and homogeneity in its four years of existence that is little short of amazing. Not only do the men play together, but they play with an obvious enthusiasm and pleasure in their own good workmanship, that is rare to find. To say that they play like amateur sounds like a shabby sort of compliment, yet that is what they do in the real sense of the work: experts who play for the love of playing.

Composer Conducts.
Sokoloff is undoubtedly responsible for this. He has not only gathered an extraordinarily good collection of players—all his first desk men are good or better, and his trombone section is as fine as you will hear—but he has obviously won their respect and implicit obedience. He conducts with an alert and graphic, but never extravagant beat, and his men respond instantly and understandingly to his slightest gesture.

The second number was David Stanley Smith's overture "Prince Hal" conducted by the composer. Prof. Smith, who had come from New Haven for the occasion, received a warm welcome, the orchestra rising to his honor after the work had been played. "Prince Hal" has been played in New York more than once since its first hearing upwards of ten years ago. It is a straightforward serio-comic tone portrait of the robust youth who was such a good friend of Falstaff, skilfully developed, but a vigorous horn theme that recalls the "Prince" in Koenigsberg's main mood be it understood. The audience was vastly pleased and demanded three recalls one for Smith, the composer, one for Smith the conductor, and one for Smith.

Sokoloff Was Successful.
The soloist of the evening was Victor De Gomez, the orchestra's first cellist, who played the Lalo concerto. Gomez's artistic stature is commensurate with his own, which is considerable. Lalo's concerto is a dignified and genuinely impressive work, but it is by no means easy to make convincing to an audience. Its uncompromising length is against it for one thing, together with a not altogether happy device of giving the orchestra a recurrent sforzando chord every two bars, leaving the solo instrument virtually unsupported between times. The result is particularly close to monotony.

It is all the more Gomez's credit, therefore, that he was completely successful in his difficult task, bringing to the concerto a fine powerful tone of considerable variety and color and a sincerity and understanding that illuminated much that might otherwise have sounded repetitious.

During the first movement the orchestra had little to do, but did it well. In the intermezzo and finale its accompaniment was delightfully square and deferential. The evening ended with that obstreperous old-timer, Berlioz's Rakocsy march.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop now with Cremo-Cin, an emollient crocote that is pleasant to take. Cremo-Cin is a new medical discovery with twofold action. It soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, crocote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agent for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung trouble. Cremo-Cin contains, in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membrane and stop the irritation while the crocote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Cremo-Cin is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhs, bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Cremo-Cin Co., Atlanta, Ga.

THOMAS BROTHERS, TRIED FOR DECK MURDER, ACQUITTED

Juries Had Failed to Agree on Verdict in Two Previous Trials.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
HILLSBORO, Mo., Feb. 5.—Jesse and Otto Thomas, brothers, were acquitted by a jury Saturday in their third trial on a charge of murder, growing out of the killing of Andrew Beck of Herculaneum, a volunteer dry law informer, Feb. 26, 1931. In the two previous trials at Potosi, Mo., the juries failed to agree on a verdict.

James H. Seward of St. Louis, confessed slayer of Deck, and Ernest and Eugene Hayes of Herculaneum, have been sentenced to hang for the murder. Seward said the other convicted men, William Hayes and the Thomas brothers hired him to "beat up" Deck, and that the shooting followed Deck's effort to defend himself.

Seward recently was granted a stay of execution, and the case of William Hayes, who was sentenced to life imprisonment, has been reversed and remanded for another trial. Seward, at his trial, repudiated his confession.

MANY HURT IN TRAIN CRASH

C. R. I. & P. Passenger, Hits Coal Train Near Chaplain, Ia.

By the Associated Press.
CHARITAN, Ia., Feb. 5.—Two men were perhaps fatally injured and several others seriously injured and a number of others were bruised and cut when a Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific passenger train bound from Minneapolis to Kansas City collided with a coal train three miles north of here shortly before noon yesterday. Cy Hope and Fred Eider of Charitan, conductor and brakeman, respectively of the coal train, are the men perhaps fatally injured. The freight engine and its cabooses were thrown over a high embankment into White Breast creek. The cabooses burned. Most of the passengers injured were occupants of the sleeper.

The quickest way to get relief—effort help—through a Plutonium Want ad.

Are you crowded and cramped in the narrow house of poverty? Does every door that opens upon opportunity seem closed to you? Does debt shackle you as a ball and chain?

Come out on the Highroad. There beckons Opportunity. Beyond lies the Goal of Success.

Let no idler tell you that the highroad is rough and hard to travel; that thorns and sharp rocks and pitfalls beset the path. Hard for idlers, yes. But not for you.

The highroad to success is open and free. It may be traveled by anyone with manly purpose or womanly will. It begins at your very feet.

The way is rough enough, indeed, to challenge your will; but what doughty soul demands ease of attainment?

Oh, yes, some turn off at the byways where paths seem easier; some shrink and turn back; others fall off into the mire.

Come, you've made your start already. Even past failures are guide posts gained. Cast off hindering habits. There's room on the high road for you. There's a new reward at every nightfall.

There is no end to the road that leads to success. You may travel it from one goal to another, all your life, and all along the way you will sense the satisfaction that comes with winning worthy goals.

The highroad to success begins at your feet. Let's go.

ARIZONA RANCHER KILLS WIFE
AND 2 CHILDREN, THEN HIMSELF

Former State Representative Crushes Their Skulls With Ax and Cuts His Throat With Razor.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 5.—E. F. Payton, rancher and until a few days ago a member of the State House of Representatives, yesterday killed his wife, the two children, Jean, 3, and Richard, 5, and then slashed his own throat at the Payton ranch, nine miles southwest of Phoenix. Three of the four victims were dead when found shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The fourth, Richard, died in a local hospital three hours later.

Skulls of the wife and children were crushed in with an ax, officers said. After killing them Payton walked about 200 yards into a cotton field and slashed his throat from ear to ear with a razor, according to the coroner.

The wife evidently had been attacked when pumping water in the backyard. The children were attacked when sitting together in a big chair in the living room. Temporary insanity is the reason assigned by the coroner for the deed.

OVERHEATING OF FURNACES
CAUSES THREE FIRES

Flooring and Draperies Are Burned in Residence of John C. Muckerman.

Cold weather, through the medium of overheated heating apparatus, caused three fires yesterday with a damage of more than $1000. An overheated furnace in the basement of the brick residence of John C. Muckerman, 4464 West Pine boulevard, at 8:15 a. m., caused fire which damaged flooring and draperies $500.

Slight damage was done at 1:25 p. m. when a hot-water pipe exploded in a furnace in the three-story brick residence of Miss Eugenia Chouteau, 4927 Maryland avenue, bursting open the door and throwing out coals which ignited paper on the basement floor.

An overheated steam pipe leading into a chain grocery store at 3738 South Broadway caused a fire with $500 damage.

As The Farmer Prospers
The Community Grows

Just as the prosperity of the nation is dependent upon the financial condition of its farm and agricultural interests, so are the health, wealth and happiness of each county or community determined by the prosperity of its farmers.

Realizing this fact, the management of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, many years ago, set about the important work of improving agricultural conditions along its lines by telling the farmers and stock-raisers how best to grow and market their crops. Carrying this policy still further, this Railroad, for a number of years, has conducted a carefully-studied plan, designed to induce good farmers from other communities to locate in the South, giving particular and individual consideration to each farmer's qualifications and requirements, rather than attempting to induce large numbers of farmers, many of whom are incompetent, to locate on its lines.

Recently the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, has inaugurated a campaign of advertising in the stronger agricultural papers whose circulation is confined to the colder states. This farm-paper advertising is supplemented by direct-mail work of the Industrial and Immigration Department, and it is a significant fact that in its work of inducing farmers to move to the South, not one penny of charge is made and nothing is offered for sale. The Louisville & Nashville Railroad does not own an acre of farm land and has nothing to sell but its services as a carrier of freight and passengers, and is continually endeavoring, not to bring just any type of farmer to the South, but rather to select those who can appreciate the attractions of the Southland and prosper permanently in this section.

Why We Should Bathe Internally

Physicians agree that most human ills are caused by accumulated waste in the lower intestine—Headaches, biliousness and "that tired, dragged-out feeling" are but the forerunners of much more serious ailments, and more drugs are used with the mistaken idea of ridding us of this waste than for all other ills combined.

Why not try the unfailing and perfectly natural method of bathing internally with the "J. B. L. Cascade", and keep the intestine always clean and free from all poisonous waste.

Over a million enlightened Americans, many right here in town, are now using it, have bade good-bye to that half-sick feeling and are consistently proof against many ills, as well as arising every morning clear-headed and eager for the duties of the day.

Ask us today, while you think of it, for an interesting book on "Why Man of Today is Only 50% Efficient." It is free to you.

FIRST MILESTONE REACHED IN FIGHT FOR FARM CREDITS

Bills Passed by Senate Expected to Be Put Through House Within Short Time.

PRESIDENT PLEDGED TO SIGN MEASURES

Effect of New Legislation Will Be to Enable Agriculturist to Obtain Lower Interest Rate.

By DAVID LAWRENCE,
A Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The first milestone in the farmers' fight for the same facilities of finance as the manufacturer and promoter of industry enjoy has been reached. Three bills passed by the Senate are expected to be put through the House within a short time and President Harding, who pledged himself to those measures at the agricultural conference at the White House, will sign them.

Broadly speaking, the effect of the farm credit legislation will be to reduce interest rates to the farmer. He has been paying 7 and 8 per cent and in some cases as high as 10 per cent to get money, while his more fortunate fellow citizens in the marts of urban finance have been getting money for generations at 6 per cent and less.

View of Wallace.
"I regard the Lenroot-Anderson bill," said Secretary of Agriculture Wallace today, "as the response of the administration to the farmers' demand for an effective form of intermediate credit. It will go a long way toward reducing interest rates ultimately and will give the farmer the long-time credit he needs in the turnover of his products. Both the Capper bill and the Strong bill should also have tremendous benefits."

Wallace estimated that even if interest rates to the farmer were reduced only 1 1/2 per cent it would mean the equivalent of a 20 per cent reduction in freight rates so far as comparative benefits to the farmer are concerned. He believes that commercial, manufacturing and financial communities everywhere should be enthusiastic for the new farm legislation because it will tend to relieve the farmer of many of his troubles and enhance his productive and purchasing power.

The three measures which have passed the Senate are concerned almost entirely with new methods of financing domestic markets. All the bills which have for their object the financing of exports will probably be held in abeyance, as the administration is no more certain of a way to insure export trade for farm products in the present disturbed conditions of foreign exchange than it is of a method to safeguard any other kind of foreign trade.

Provisions of Capper Bill.
There is a feeling in some quarters that the Capper bill ought to be sufficient legislation for the farmer, but the farm bloc doesn't think so, and neither does Secretary Wallace. It authorizes the formation under Federal charter of agricultural credit corporations operating with private capital under the supervision of the Controller of the Currency, and makes possible the grant of advances on paper secured by warehouse receipts representing nonperishable commodities and having a maturity not exceeding nine months on paper secured by chattel mortgages on livestock fattened for market, such paper maturing in not more than nine months, and on paper secured by chattel mortgages on breeder, stocker or feeder herds and maturing in not more than three years. The Capper bill authorizes the incorporation also of rediscount corporations under Federal supervision, and through these companies undoubtedly the agricultural corporations will have access to city capital.

The measure also extends the life of the War Finance Corporation nine months and permits Federal land banks to lend a maximum of $25,000, instead of $10,000, to any one borrower.

Seek to Reach Individuals.
But the champions of the other two bills, namely, the Lenroot-Anderson and the Strong bills, while admitting the merits of the Capper bill, say it will help the livestock industry chiefly and also those producers who are organized now or are likely to be organized in co-operative associations.

The latter can make advances to individual producers because the co-operative has a binding contract to market the crop. The purpose of the Lenroot-Anderson bill is to reach the individual farmer who is not in a co-operative and who needs money for farm improvements or to handle crops with a long turnover of credit.

Under the Lenroot-Anderson bill, credit departments will be formed in the Federal Farm Land Banks. The initial capital of the 12 banks will total $60,000,000 and further capital will be obtained by selling debenture bonds in the open market. Ultimately these bonds ought to sell for about 5 1/2 per cent, at which figure the present farm loan bonds used in starting the land banks are selling. The Federal Land Banks at present, however, lend money on mortgages which are secured, of course, by the land itself. The farm-

The Great Mistake

That millions are correcting
They combat that dingy film on teeth

This is to invite a test, whose results will amaze and delight you.

Old methods of teeth cleaning involved some great mistakes. As a result, even well-brushed teeth discolored and decayed. Few escaped tooth troubles, and beautiful teeth were seen less often than now.

Those faults are now corrected. Millions of people have entered a new dental era. We urge you to learn what they know.

That clinging film

A viscous film clings to your teeth, enters crevices and stays. Food stains, etc., discolor it, then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film. That's why teeth lose luster. Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Thus most tooth troubles are due to film which old ways left on teeth.

Now we combat it

Dental science, after long research, has

Pepsodent

The New-Day Dentifrice
A scientific tooth paste based on modern research, free from harmful grit. Now advised by leading dentists the world over.

found two ways to fight film. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved those methods by many careful tests. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. Those two great film destroyers were embodied in it.

That tooth paste is called Pepsodent. Now careful people of some 50 nations employ it, largely by dental advice.

Avoid Harmful Grit

Pepsodent curdles the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agent is far softer than enamel. Never use a film comb which contains harsh grit.

New effects

Pepsodent brings other results now known to be essential. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Old methods brought just opposite effects. Those were other grave mistakes which this new way has corrected.

How to know

Send this coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

One week will bring you a new conception of clean teeth.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Hair should be used very carefully.
You want to keep your hair looking best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali.
This dries the scalp, makes the hair
brittle, and ruins it.
The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.
Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified oil in a cup of water with a little water is sufficient to cleanse hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply wash the hair with water and rub Mulsified in. It makes an abundant, rich, creamy lather, which does not easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff, and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and softly, and it leaves the scalp soft,
the hair fine and silky, bright,
smooth, fluffy and easy to manage.
You can get Mulsified coconut oil
at any pharmacy. It is very cheap, and a few ounces will supply you for a long time. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

er, however, in the recent depression
didn't have anything to offer as collateral because he was already mortgaged to the limit. He had the skill to raise a crop and the land out
not the capital to see him through.
In the business world he would get capital largely on the strength of his ability to produce and his character and reliability. But the farmer who went to the country banks found them fearful of lending for any more than 90 days and frequently were unable to renew because of apprehensions concerning the need of funds by the larger banks in other channels of trade.

Tax Exemption Proposed.

Under the new bills the farmer
can in some cases get three years' credit.
There would be set aside
the best for agricultural purposes
which cannot be disturbed by needs of other industries. In order to make the new farm loan bonds attractive it is proposed to make them tax exempt. Secretary Mellon doesn't like this because he says it is inconsistent with the administration's effort to abolish all tax exempts by constitutional amendment.
But the answer of the farm bills is that the farm loan bonds issued for mortgage purposes now are tax exempt and that other tax exempts are in the market now and until all tax exempt securities are forbidden by the Constitution, which may take two to three years to get through all State Legislatures, the farmers might as well go into the borrowing market on as attractive terms as possible.

The Strong bill would correct certain defects in the farm land bank bank organizations, permitting Government supervision instead of allowing them to be indifferently managed by private hands.

On the whole the administration is proud of the farm program and feels the agrarian movement in this country will be considerably calmed
by what has been done.

Shipping Bill Delay May Block Action on Farm Credits.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—A possibility that the Lenroot-Anderson-Capper farm credits program may be blocked in Congress unless there is some assurance of action on the administration shipping bill, was foreseen in some quarters today after a series of conferences to discuss the legislative outlook for the remaining four weeks of the Sixty-seventh Congress.

After a talk with President Harding, Representative Mondell of Wyoming, Republican leader of the House, declared there were so many "difficulties" in the way of an agreement that it was entirely possible
the farm credits measures could not be finally written into law before a new Congress convened in November. He said the subject had passed both the Senate and House.

Negro Caught After Purse Theft.

Martin F. Hart, 4134 Penrose street, a private detective, pursued and captured a negro whom he accused of stealing his purse and $22
when he was on a Bell line car near fifteenth street and St. Louis avenue yesterday. The chase led for a block from the car to an alley,
where Hart caught the negro and with the aid of other passengers,
held him until a policeman arrived.
The police reported the negro had Hart's purse.

The Wisdom of carrying a Spare

Every motorist knows the wisdom of carrying a "spare." Without one, punctures and blow-outs cause worry
and loss of time.

Likewise most thoughtful folks,
motoring along life's highway, carry savings accounts. It is the way they prepare for the unexpected "trouble"
that comes when least expected.

Open a Savings Account today with St. Louis' largest bank and deposit regularly. It keeps the "spare pumped

"Cure Your Rupture as I Cured Mine"

Free Demonstration of Kemp's Mechanical System.

I suffered with a double scrotal
rupture for many years, tried truss
after truss without avail, was informed that an operation was the only chance of a cure. Finally I succeeded in not only holding my troublesome ruptures in place without pain, but in ridding myself of this dangerous condition.

To those who are truss-ridden and have given up hope I am willing to personally demonstrate my mechanical system without charge.

This is not a mail-order proposition. I must see you personally. I have opened an office to serve as many rupture sufferers that care to call and give them the opportunity to rid themselves of their rupture as I did.

I had lost hope, did not believe in anything or anyone, but I am thankful that I had the courage to try once more, and I firmly believe that in so doing I saved myself from strangulation, possibly death. If you are interested, call. I will be glad to tell you all about my new mechanical system and demonstrate the same to you fully.

TRICKERY CHARGED BY TWO MEN WHO FIGHT DEPORTATION

Poles Say They Were Induced to Sign Confession of Conspiring to Wreck and Rob Train.

RELEASED AFTER 2 YEARS IN PRISON

Friends Interested in Case Are Trying to Obtain Hearing Before Immigration Authorities.

After more than two years' imprisonment for a crime they assert they did not commit and to which they declare they were tricked into confessing, John Kona, 31, and Frank Kochinski, 34, now prisoners in the East St. Louis jail, face deportations in their native Poland unless efforts of friends and others interested in their case are successful in obtaining a hearing before immigration authorities.

Whether this would be a "new" hearing is a matter of dispute. Kona and Kochinski contend they never have been given a hearing on charges of being undesirable aliens. Federal immigration officials in St. Louis today showed a Post-Dispatch reporter copies of the proceedings of such a hearing declared held at the Chester (Ill.) penitentiary in November, 1920.

Wreck Plot Charged.
This was shortly after the men had arrived there to begin indeterminate terms of five to 25 years for buying and possessing explosives "to be used in the unlawful injury and destruction of life and property" in an alleged conspiracy to wreck and rob the "Black Diamond Express" on the Illinois Central Railroad, near Springfield, Ill., in the summer of 1919.

The sentences of the prisoners, both Springfield coal miners, were commuted last September by acting Gov. Sterling. Kona and Kochinski assert this was in effect a full pardon, obtained because Kona's wife had convinced the jury that the "Black Diamond Express" was not a train, but a car, and that the sentences are recommended commuted that the two men may be deported.

Trickery Alleged.
Kona and Kochinski were arrested in Springfield with five other men, Walter Moliski, a Pole, with whom Kochinski boarded, and a man named Kucharski, who was a friend of the Illinois Central officials in Chicago and offered to tell for $10,000 of a plot to wreck the express. Then followed the two prisoners held for deportation say, "trickery" by which they were induced to sign confessions and to plead guilty. Kona's story of his experiences, given to a Post-Dispatch reporter, follows:

"When I was arrested the police told me to get ready to go to the train. I knew nothing about it except that Moliski lots of times when all of us were at his house drinking 'white' and 'black' beer, that he was going to wreck a train and get money. We just laughed at him.

Dynamite Buried in Shed.
"I had a box of dynamite buried in my shed, though, because I was going to use it in blasting rock in a wall I was to dig on my brother-in-law's place at Springfield. The police kept saying, 'Where's the dynamite?' and telling me that I would get out quick if I showed them. I finally did, and then I heard one of them laugh. 'Now, we've got him.'"

"They kept me in jail about a week, Frank (Kochinski) and I couldn't read English until we learned it at the penitentiary. One day the police brought us papers and told us to sign them. They said this would be making bond to let us out. We signed, but a little while after, when I asked when I was to go out, they told me I had put my name to a paper confessing planning to rob the train and a bank at Auburn, Ill., and lots of other things."

Advised Not to Hire Lawyers.
Kona declares the Chief of Police and an Assistant State Attorney had used the confession to induce him to plead guilty. They told him, he said, that it meant certain deportation and that for him to employ lawyers would be to spend his life savings without result and to leave his wife and small daughter destitute. If he would plead guilty the officers would obtain his release in 21 months and provide for his family in the meantime.

On this assurance, Kona says, he entered the plea. His family was not cared for, however, he asserts. Kochinski declares promises of a light sentence were used to induce him to plead guilty.

After the two men were taken to Chester penitentiary they learned for the first time the full extent of their sentences. They were offered life freedom, they declare, if they would testify that the other five men were planning to wreck the train, rob a bank at Auburn, Ill., and Kona as confessing to six thefts from box cars.

Diphtheria Probably Will Have Disappeared in Another Century, Dr. Jean V. Cooke Says

Lecturer Declares Use of Serum Now Makes It Possible to Immunize All Persons From Disease.

It is not too much to hope that the civilization of another century may know diphtheria only as we are coming to know typhoid plague—a once-severe epidemic disease which has disappeared from civilized communities.

The statement is that of Dr. Jean V. Cooke, associate professor of pediatrics in Washington University School of Medicine, made during a public lecture on "Diphtheria and Its Prevention," yesterday afternoon, in the medical school auditorium, King's highway and Euclid avenue.

There now occur between 150,000 and 200,000 cases of diphtheria in the United States annually, with approximately 35,000 deaths.

It has been 40 years since the discovery of the diphtheria bacillus and in that time, Dr. Cooke said, science has progressed to absolute diagnosis within 18 hours, the preparation of an antitoxin which, if given early enough, will cure all cases and, finally, methods of simple hypodermic injection have been found to absolutely prevent children from contracting the disease.

Three Common Forms.
The three common forms of diphtheria are tonsillar diphtheria, diphtheritic croup and nasal diphtheria. Dr. Cooke said that it was best to consider every case of sore throat, especially among children, as possible diphtheria and to find out certainly whether it is.

Absolute diagnosis can be made, the lecturer pointed out, by cultures from the throat. "The actual examination of such cultures for diphtheria is carried out by the city and State boards of health," Dr. Cooke said.

"Materials for cultures are furnished at all St. Louis police stations and in other places. On account of the importance of early diagnosis, every parent has the right to demand that cultures be taken in every case of sore throat."

"Most cases," Dr. Cooke continued, "occur among children, and those between the age of 2 and 5 are the most susceptible. Indeed, four-fifths of all cases occur in children under 5 years of age."

Mortality One Person a Day.
"The number of cases in St. Louis each year is about five to every thousand of population and of these one-third are fatal. The mortality is about one person a day. This is about three times the number of deaths that occur from automobile accidents, and yet the prevention of diphtheria is much easier than the prevention of automobile accidents."

"Before the use of antitoxin the Springfield in an effort to get him to give such testimony.

Others Acquitted.
Although Moliski turned State's evidence, the other men, who had pleaded guilty, were all acquitted. Moliski was later sent to Leavenworth for 15 years on counterfeiting charges, as the result of a mold for making spurious dollars being found in his home. The last, Kona said yesterday it belonged to Moliski. Kona said yesterday it was left there over his protest and against his better judgment.

When Kona and Kochinski were released at Chester after their sentences were commuted Sept. 1, 1922, immigration officials were waiting to receive them. They were brought to St. Louis, but removed to East St. Louis Jan. 1.

Full Hearing Sought.
Grover C. Borders, attorney for the prisoners, has applied to the Secretary of Labor for a full hearing on the deportation charges. D. M. Davidson, Secretary of Agriculture for Illinois, has interested himself in the case for the men, as have several citizens of Springfield and also Polish residents of other places.

The Polish-American Alliance at Springfield and East St. Louis are also urging complete investigation of the prisoners' charges. Kona was secretary of the branch of the organization at Springfield at the time of his arrest. Borders asserts this, together with Kona's ownership of his home and other property, shows him to be a desirable citizen.

Kona, who came to the United States in 1907, has taken out his first papers. Kochinski, who arrived shortly afterward, has not. The latter says he was never arrested before, but Kona admits having paid an $80 fine for "moonshining."

Copies of Hearing Exhibited.
Copies of the hearing at Chester, denied by the prisoners as taking place, were exhibited by immigration officers yesterday to show that both Kona and Kochinski had admitted that they had conspired to wreck the train. Kochinski was quoted as saying that the scene of the intended robbery had been twice visited by him to get the lay of the land. The records also show that he declared some of the plotters suggested killing "the rich passengers in the sleepers" to plunder their belongings.

Both men are quoted as saying the alleged band also proposed to rob a bank at Auburn, Ill., and Kona as confessing to six thefts from box cars.

Delay in deporting the men has been caused by their refusal to give the necessary information regarding their residence in Poland. It was stated yesterday that the Washington Post had been sent to the Polish consul in Washington to get the necessary information regarding their residence in Poland. It was stated yesterday that the Washington Post had been sent to the Polish consul in Washington to get the necessary information regarding their residence in Poland.

mortality in diphtheria was at least 30 per cent. Since the introduction of the serum this has been cut to between 10 and 15 per cent. "Of the group cases, three-fourths died before the introduction of antitoxin. Now the death rate is about 35 per cent. The influence of age is striking. Even with the use of antitoxin, 20 per cent of children under 5 years who contract the disease die while the mortality is only 9 per cent between 5 and 10 years and 3 per cent from 10 to 15.

"The importance of early use of antitoxin is shown by the fact that children treated on the first day show a mortality of less than 5 per cent, on the second day 8 per cent, on the third day 12 per cent, on the fourth day 24 per cent, and on the fifth, or later, 40 to 45 per cent."

Possible to Immunize All.

"Only about half the children who recover from diphtheria are immune from a second attack. However, it is now possible to immunize all children by the injection of a toxin-antitoxin. The method is simple. Three hypodermic injections are given at intervals of a week. The site usually selected is the upper arm and injections are followed with no untoward symptoms, although there may be a redness and slight soreness for a day or so. The immunity does not develop for several weeks or months after the inoculation, so the method is not applicable for the immediate protection of children who have been directly exposed to the disease, but must be used when there is no immediate danger of contraction."

Method of Proved Value.

"The method is now of proved value and by its use the entire population of any city could be immunized against diphtheria. In New York more than 100,000 school children have been so immunized."

Dr. Cooke related that in 1915, 1916 and 1917 one of every three nurses who attended diphtheria cases in the St. Louis Children's Hospital contracted the disease, but that since 1918 all nurses have been immunized. He said that the disease has been given to a number of nurses in the five years succeeding its introduction through attendance upon afflicted children in the public health course by the Washington University faculty will be next Sunday at 2:30 p. m., when Dr. Otto Schwab, associate professor of obstetrics, will talk on "The Maternity Hospital: Its Value to Mother and Child."

Greater Freedom Desire.
"Young and old united in a desire for greater freedom," Dr. Cooke said. "One thing about a clergyman is that his associations are with the people he loves and he is happy when they seem to be happy in his church. They are finished with signifying papers after their experience with the alleged confessions."

Community Fund Meeting.
Director of Cleveland Campaign to Tell How $4,000,000 Was Collected.
The St. Louis Citizens' campaign committee of the St. Louis Community Fund will be addressed at an informal dinner tonight at Hotel Chase by Fred W. Ramsey, chairman of the Cleveland Community Fund. He directed a campaign last year in Cleveland which collected $4,000,000 for the charities of that city. He will tell how it was done and details of the local campaign will be discussed, but there will be no solicitation of funds.

The St. Louis campaign will begin Feb. 23 under the direction of the Campaign Committee, of which James J. Johnston, president of the Liberty Central Trust Co., is chairman.

Coolidge Invited to Speak.
Young Republicans of Missouri Making Plans for Banquet.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 5.—Vice President Calvin Coolidge has been invited to speak at the twenty-fourth annual Lincoln day banquet of the Association of Young Republicans of Missouri the night of Feb. 12 at Hotel Muehlbach. The tentative program includes a speech by James A. Finch, New Madrid attorney, who is looked upon as a gubernatorial prospect. George C. Wilson, St. Louis attorney, will speak.

The banquet is expected to attract more than 1000 Republicans to Kansas City. Others who probably will attend are: R. R. Brewster, Kansas City; Lieutenant-Governor Hiram Lloyd, Major Henry W. Kiel of St. Louis; J. D. Morris, St. Louis; Howard Stidner, St. Louis; Attorney General Barrett.

Gen. Storrs to Depart Feb. 20.
NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Brigadier-General Ronald Storrs, British Civil Governor of Jerusalem, will end his brief visit to the United States on Feb. 20, when he will sail for Palestine, he announced last night.

"DIDN'T DON CLOTH TO BE A PARROT"

Dr. Grant Tells Large Congregation That Much of Doctrine and Discipline Is False.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—"The difference between you and a very high ecclesiastic of this town is simply that he is a churchman and you are human," wrote a New York man to the Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant.

Dr. Grant read the letter from the pulpit yesterday morning to a congregation that overflowed the pews, sat in the aisles and stood in the entry at the Church of the Ascension.

"I am willing to let the matter rest there," Dr. Grant said. "I am not sure but that there is some sense in it. I do not believe my work to be the building up of a religious sect, but the enlarging of the spiritual life of humanity."

"I am not doing it accidentally or unconsciously, and I am trying to do it intentionally and consciously and bringing all the information and scientific data I can to assist me."

Dr. Grant has received letters from many of his hearers since he made his statements regarding the divinity of Christ which brought from Bishop Manning, first a demand that he recant or resign and, later, a rebuke. He read many extracts from these letters, some of which were read yesterday, and referred to the discussion in his sermon. In the course of which he declared "much of religious doctrine, as well as discipline, is not only archaic but false."

"I didn't become a clergyman to be a parrot and repeat what I found in the Bible," he said. "I became a clergyman because I thought the church was a beautiful and human institution, from which one could get sympathy for his fellowmen, help them in all sorts of trouble, and study with them the problems of their lives, whether the problems were of economics, philanthropy, or prayer philosophy."

The letters were of two classes, the pastor said. One class was from young men and a few young women and the other from old men.

PRINCE FUSHIMI
DIES OF APOPLEXY

Lord Keeper of Privy Seal of Japan Was Uncle of Emperor Yoshihito.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Feb. 5.—Prince Sadanaru Fushimi, Lord Keeper of the Privy Seal, uncle of Emperor Yoshihito, died today as the result of a stroke of apoplexy.

The house of Fushimi, founded in the fourteenth century, is one of the oldest in Japan. Prince Sadanaru was born April 28, 1858. In the war between Japan and China in 1894 he was a brigade commander, and he later was promoted to General. He visited the United States in 1904, attending the St. Louis exposition.

COUNTY REGISTRATION BILL APPROVED AT MEETING

Resolution Urges Election Committee of Lower House of Legislature to Make Favorable Report.

A resolution urging the Committee on Elections of the lower house of the State Legislature to report favorably a proposed committee substitute for the bill providing for registration of voters in St. Louis County, introduced by Mrs. Melville Smith, one of the county's representatives, was adopted at a mass meeting called by the Clean Election League in the Clayton Courthouse yesterday.

The league prepared to circulate copies of the resolution for signatures of county residents today and tomorrow, to demonstrate that the people of the county want a registration law. About 75 persons attended the mass meeting, including Mrs. Smith and a number of county officials who, besides her, were elected by the league last November. The resolution expressed confidence in Mrs. Smith.

The Legislature has three bills for county registration, the two others having been introduced by another representative and by Senator Ralph, respectively. The Clean Election League does not favor the latter bills.

The proposed committee substitute, bill, J. Porter Henry, chairman of the Executive Committee of the league, stated. Consideration of two other bills, which have been introduced, abolishing the fee system of paying county officials and reforming the Justice of the Peace system, was referred to the league Executive committee, which has not seen the bills as yet.

Government Cites Constitution as Basis of Prohibition; Filippi Legal Proceedings Dropped.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, Feb. 5.—The consecration of Monsignor Jose Manrique Zarate as Bishop of Huejutla, which was to have taken place yesterday at Cerro del Cuahute, where recently outdoor ceremonies were held which culminated in the expulsion from the country of Monsignor Filippi, the papal delegate, was postponed Saturday by Gilberto Valenzuela, Subsecretary of the Interior, in instructions forwarded to Governor Antonio Madrazo of Guanajuato, according to El Universal and El Heraldo.

Senor Valenzuela cited long sections of the constitution prohibiting such public ceremonies. El Heraldo, which is recognized as the Government organ, announces that legal proceedings against Monsignor Filippi have been dropped.

FREIGHT CAR POOL OPPOSED
American Railway Association Denies Proposal.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Plans for creating of a national pool of rail freight cars, under direction of a central agency representing all railroads which have been presented to Congress and the Interstate Commerce Commission by the National Association of Owners of Railroad Securities, were unqualifiedly condemned yesterday in a report of the American Railway Association.

The association declared, determines the scheme to be "economically unsound, impracticable of application, not in the best interests of the shipping public, and contrary to the fundamental principles of private and competitive operation of American railroads."

Memorial Museum Urged.
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Announcement is made by the Baird National Memorial Committee, composed of distinguished scientists, that it has recommended that Congress be urged to establish in Washington a museum of fisheries and oceanography, with laboratories and a public aquarium, in memory of Spencer Fullerton Baird, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, from 1878 to 1917 and generally credited with being the founder of the United States National Museum.

Ceremonies commemorating the centenary of his birth were held here Saturday night.

Why You Should Vote at Bond Issue Election Friday

ST. LOUIS cannot go forward in the next generation unless the fundamentals of the bond proposals are carried in the special election Friday, in which voters will ballot on 21 public improvement items totaling $88,372,500.

The improvements provided for must be made by means of bonds or direct taxation or St. Louis will go backward; the city will fall short in the race for supremacy and will soon be counted among the lesser, unprogressive cities, undesirable for residence or business. The success of the entire bond issue would be a great stroke for St. Louis. Improvements necessary for health, comfort and growth, and improvements greatly enhancing the city's advantages and attractions would be assured.

It will take votes to accomplish this stroke—two-thirds of all the votes cast. If the approval of the bond issue by organizations and individuals means anything, if the support of organizations and individuals is to be effective for good, individual citizens must go to the polls and vote. Every citizen having the welfare and progress of St. Louis at heart and who believes that the bond issue or any part of it is necessary to its welfare and progress should go to the polls and vote. All who have opinions on the bond issue should vote.

The vote on the bonds should be a record vote. Only by a large vote of citizens can the sentiment of citizens be determined and the future of St. Louis assured. Only by a large vote can the bonds or any part of them be authorized. Votes only will decide whether St. Louis will go forward or backward.

CURZON ATTACKED BY LONDON DAILY MAIL

Article Defends Turks, Saying Curzon "Haggled, Bickered and Dominated."

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 5.—An exception to the almost universal chorus of press condemnation here of the Turks' stand at Lausanne was afforded today by the Daily Mail, which in a leader editorial attack upon Lord Curzon, defending the Turks.

The article says that the conference failed because the allied delegates refused to recognize the reasonable Ottoman demands.

"Lord Curzon has haggled, bickered, hector and dominated," the newspaper continues, "and the result has been a complete failure. The British negotiators have thrown away a great opportunity of bringing peace between Europe and Western Asia."

In the export trade the United States was second, with $4,458,555, France having $4,015,524 and the United Kingdom $3,680,175.

Total collections from all sources by the Receiver-General, including the balance of $4,491,163 carried over amounted to $7,542,042, and expenditures and disbursements to $7,955,181, leaving a balance of $1,464,369. The gain of 78 per cent in volume of trade and the great increase in collections under the promises to be a banner year for Haiti.

GERMAN DAYS PUSHING FIGHT FOR LIGHT WINE AND BEER

Present Patriotic Spirit Used in Effort to Cut Down Drink; Wets Want Their Schnapps.

Special to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.
BERLIN, Feb. 5.—The occupation of the Ruhr by the French has helped the German prohibitionists. German anti-alcoholic societies are making use of the present patriotic spirit to induce the Government to put prohibition or near prohibition into effect "for the sake of the fatherland."

A mass meeting of all Prussian and Catholic societies was held in the Diet building yesterday and was attended by the Ministers of War, Treasury and Justice, and by other officials. Resolutions were adopted threatening to cut down the open house and curbed the sale of alcoholic beverages. They would suppress all bars and saloons and recommend that "light wines and beers" be allowed.

The Nationalists have joined the prohibitionists in the campaign against liquor and appeal to the public not to consume any alcohol while the French are in the Ruhr region. Liquor dealers, getting a bit nervous, are putting out posters denouncing prohibition as absurd and reminding the people that even the old Teutons were used to their daily bottle of wine and "schnapps."

"STUDENTS TO SHAKE WORLD"
Colorado Governor Says Nation Will Awaken to Value of Intellectuals.

By the Associated Press.
LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 5.—In an address here last evening on the "Business Man's Overflow," Gov. W. E. Sweet of Colorado said the students of the country and others in the next 15 years, will shake the world as no other group.

"America," he declared, "is not all that it should be, and no country in the world pays so little attention to its intellectual men as America. Only when the nation comes to think fundamentally and conclusively, he said, will its great problems be solved."

Verailles Treaty Revision Urged.
By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The Steuben Society of America has asked President Harding, in a resolution made public today, to call a second peace conference to revise the Versailles treaty and to take action on the occupation of the Ruhr by the French. The resolution urged the Government to indicate its disapproval of the action taken by France.

New Mexican Airplane Base.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 5.—The War Department acting on a recommendation of Gen. Salinas, chief of the air service, has ordered the establishment of three airplane bases in Lower California and an increase of equipment in that region. The purpose is to maintain an effective patrol of the border and coast line of Mexico.

MICHAEL KINNEY
INDORSES 21 ITEMS
IN THE BOND ISSUE

Passage Will Assure Growth and Provide Employment Over Extended Period, State Senator Asserts.

ADOPTION WOULD BE BIG AD FOR ST. LOUIS

Each of Proposals Will Be Voted On Separately and All Persons Registered Are Entitled to Vote.

Passage of the municipal bond issue in the election Friday not only will assure the growth and development of the city, but will provide steady employment for a large number of men over an extended period, State Senator Michael Kinney, Democratic leader, declared yesterday in announcing his indorsement of the 21 proposals in the $88,372,500 "public improvement program."

A 10-year program of construction has been outlined for the public improvements, if the bond issue is approved. Senator Kinney pointed out that this work would bring employment to many men who otherwise would be forced to remain idle or leave the city. "It will bring back to St. Louis many men who have left us by reason of the depression and building programs in other cities," he added.

Housing conditions would be improved, he said. "Unless we have a big public improvement program we will not have the amount of home building that we should have," Kinney asserted. He declared success of the bond program at the polls Friday would give the biggest and best advertisement of the water works, gas and building programs in other cities."

Money to Be Spent in St. Louis.
The Bond Issue Campaign Committee has pointed out that St. Louis will benefit not only from this many improvements, but that the bond proceeds will be expended in St. Louis, the greater part of them for labor. This, in turn, would benefit the entire city.

Each of the 21 proposals will be voted upon separately in the election Friday. The waterworks item of $12,000,000 will not affect taxpayers, as the bonds are to be retired from revenues of the water works. The polling places in the 618 precincts will be open from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. and all persons registered are entitled to vote, regardless of whether they are taxpayers.

"Get the vote out," and "Vote Yes 21 Times," will be the slogans of the workers in the remaining days of the campaign. Several large mass meetings have been arranged. The bond issue speakers will appear before gatherings of numerous organizations.

A meeting will be held tonight at Central High School, 1030 North Grand boulevard, under the auspices of the St. Louis Medical Society, St. Louis Tuberculosis Society, Missouri Welfare League and the General Council on Civic Needs. Leaders among the medical and health organizations have stated that the members of such groups in the city are backing the whole program as vital to the welfare of the city.

Mass Meeting for Women.
Three large conferences on the bonds are scheduled for Wednesday. A mass meeting sponsored by more than 25 women's organizations, will be held Wednesday noon at the Hotel Statler to urge support of the entire bond program by all women voters. A joint luncheon will be held at the same time by the Chamber of Commerce and Real Estate Exchange as the Chamber of Commerce. Wednesday night the End Business Men's Association will hold a meeting in the interest of the bonds at the Melbourne Hotel.

Members of nine civic and improvement associations in South St. Louis will join in a mass meeting at Grover Cleveland High School, Osceola street and Louisiana avenue, Thursday night. Organizations participating in this meeting are the Tenth Ward Improvement and Taxpayers' Association, Tower Grove Heights Improvement Association, Carondelet Improvement Association, Dakota Park Improvement Association, South St. Louis Business League, South Broadway Merchants Association, Southwestern Cooperative League, Carondelet Women's Club and the Southwestern Mercantile Association.

Slides illustrating the various improvements proposed will be shown in the moving picture theaters. Beginning tomorrow night, four-minute speakers will be assigned to 92 moving picture theaters, and will give brief talks each evening, until Friday, on subjects connected with the bond issue.

Ministers Refer to Bond Issue.
Reference to the bond issue was made yesterday by many ministers in keeping with a recent indorsement of the bond program by the Ministerial Alliance. The Rev. G. A. Campbell, pastor of the Union Avenue Christian Church, in urging passage of the bond issue, declared, "It is a sacred day in the history of the

It Seems to Me

NEW YORK.
Robert Herrick remains in our minds as a man who once wrote an amazingly radical novel. Hundreds of thousands were shocked by the book and almost as many read it. Now we are told that he is a man of peace and that he has written a new book, "The Ghost Patrol," which is a story of the future. We have all assumed, therefore, that this book must have been an exceedingly fine piece of work.

Now seven years have passed and Herrick's new novel, "Homely Lila," has just appeared. It isn't radical at all. That is no fault, but it is a blunder for the author to put his theme forward with so evident an air of saying something stirring and revolutionary. The explanation lies in the seven years which have elapsed. Robert Herrick is without doubt just as free a soul as he was in the dim ages of 1915. Indeed, there is every evidence that he has become so thoroughly in his advanced views that he held to them steadily. He stood pat and kept on saying. Accordingly Mr. Herrick no longer dominates the table when he throws down his hand with a flourish and cries, "All right."

The more enterprising players have lived on into times when this was a feeble slogan compared to the more prevalent "All purple" or "All red." And though he listens helplessly, it is not likely that Robert Herrick's latest novel will be greeted in many quarters with the usual rejoinder, "Good here."

He has undertaken to say that if a woman marries a man who is contemptuous, person, she is justified in leaving him and going away with anybody else. This hardly seems worth talking about. The only thing which is likely to arouse the usual comment of the reader is the length of time which Lila requires to find that her husband is insufferable. Herrick takes so long to get to a good case for his heroine that he succeeds in making her not a free spirit, but a conspicuous craven one. In fact, we had the feeling that the husband was being punished. No human being could possibly be so entirely bereft of any attractive qualities.

From the very beginning the author begins to belabor poor little Lila. When she enters the novel as a school superintendent and gets much worse. As they started off on their honeymoon Gordon reached into his suitcase and took out a magazine. When she asked him "What are you reading?" he replied, "An article on the secondary school system in New Zealand."

"We don't believe it for a minute," Herrick said, even fair enough to admit he was an honest and searching writer. He lynch the little man. And in the succeeding paragraph the author subjects him to further violence.

"Lila leaned on his shoulder and scanned the page, which was sprinkled with statistics. For a moment she crossed her husband's neck where it disappeared into his standing collar, then recoiling herself withdrew to her side of the seat and stared out of the window at the landscape, which consisted of a succession of flourishing corn fields. Once and only once—during their engagement she had been moved to be demonstrative. It had been a wild, warm night after the first hot day, Gordon had called for her in the evening and they had strolled out on the prairie, nearly to the black between the railroad tracks where she had once played truant in her early days at Lawndale. Something in the still beauty of the night, the crowded heavens, the breathing earth had filled Lila with a tumultuous exuberance. She had drawn Gordon to her and kissed him, passionately, a thing she had never done before, as if she could not wait to tell him the truth of life, to the beating vividness that now put up within her, stifling, clamoring for expression. In surprise Gordon had repulsed her, as if frightened by her vehemence, her fiery passion.

"We must be careful, dear. We are not married yet."

"And we don't believe that, either."

We have spoken upon several occasions of our enthusiasm for the performance of Jane Cowell in "Romeo and Juliet," and now we want to make a reservation. We had hoped that it was merely a first night flaw, but we understand that it has been pointed at each succeeding performance. When she makes her first entrance there was, and is, untimely applause. Whereupon Miss Cowell advances the practice of taking two steps forward toward the footlights and bowing her acknowledgments.

At the first night performance she bowed twice. As far as we were concerned, she might just as well have bowed. We not really Juliet at all, but Jane Cowell, a popular young actress playing in New York in the year 1922. Of course, as Juliet, you and your applause don't exist. But, as Jane Cowell, you are a star.

After a little bit we managed to forget about Miss Cowell and think of Juliet, but there remained a distinct interval during which we were traveling from Broadway to Verona.

In defense of the player who steps out of his part to acknowledge the applause. It may be said that such interruptions are expected. When no interruption is vouchsafed to them they sometimes hold up the play for two or three minutes. As a result, we are as fine an artist as Jane Cowell, we would stand stock still and let them wear their foot hands out. We would consent to move out of the picture and make a bow—in the next picture.

BEAUTY AND MIRTH IN LATIN QUARTER SHOW

Third Edition of "Greenwich Village Follies" Entertains Large Audience.

BY RICHARD L. STOKES.
AFTER a chorus girl, with a pistol, assassinated a stage reformer in the "Greenwich Village Follies," last night, at the Shubert-Jefferson, someone in the cast remarked that the purpose of the show was not to educate but to entertain. This latter was accomplished to the obvious satisfaction of a large audience, thanks to a bountiful comedy, brisk music, some brilliant specialties and numerous stage settings with pretensions to splendor.

The program begins with a burlesque upon "Lullim," with the murdered uplifter of the drama appearing in a Police Court, presided over by a judge in a wig, who punishes by exhibiting a puppet show—Lillian Owen's—in which the tiny figures capitalise on the misadventures of leading performers in the "Follies," such as Ted Lewis, Joe E. Brown and Kathleen O'Hanlon.

The entertainment has a poignant and a touch of sadness. There was an especial interest in a transformation scene, devised by Nicholas V. de Lipisky, a Russian officer, and entitled, "When Dreams Come True," in which the audience is taken to a room sang of visions of the country; and then, solely by a change of lighting, the scene changed to the greenery of a garden. Even the costumes underwent transformation.

Other popular acts were "The Reminiscence Melody," designed to expose the plagiarisms responsible for various song hits; "Under the Silver Dome" with a realistic snow effect; "The Greenwich Village Fair," a picturesque incident bringing forward Bird Millman, most dazzling of wire dancers; "A Young Man's Fancy," inspired by "The Music Box Revue," and "The Black Peacocks," a handsomely staged and costumed spectacle in black and white.

Some of the Dancers.
The dancing is particularly good. Miss O'Hanlon and Theodore Zamboni have two measures of the wildest and wildest dancing in the theater this week. The fact is, that contrary to all that might have been expected from the advance notices, this is a capital picture, full of correlative truth, and presented in a finished manner. The wonder of it grows steadily.

It purports to follow the career of an actress, Corinne d'Alys (formerly Cora Daly), as she is a triumph through charm and personality, and who laughs at John Elliot, her producer, when he tells her that her success is hollow, but that she could be a truly great actress if she would work. The other man in love with her is Townsend, a celebrated artist, and husband of Elliot's sister.

Over Elliot's protests, the actress goes to Townsend for a portrait. On the night that Townsend is to unveil the portrait at a dinner in honor of Elliot, d'Alys, his fond wife invades the studio, hacks the canvas to shreds and fatally stabs her husband. The latter, she says, was an accident. This reviewer doesn't believe for one moment that it was an accident, and is grateful to the director for at least leaving the question in doubt.

Suspicion is directed toward Elliot, who is arrested on the murder charge. Not even then—until after she has made good her escape from the widow pursuing her guilt and exonerate her brother.

It is impossible to avoid the conclusion that the producers build a

LEAD BILL AT THE EMPRESS

Several Other Features on Program
Vie With the Headlines for Applause.

All that a good vaudeville show may reasonably be expected to have is contained in the Shubert-Empress offering this week, with those talented and handsomely gowned makers, the Watson sisters, Fanny and Kitty, topping the bill. There is not a dull moment in the entertainment, and several of the acts vie with the headlines for approval.

The Watson girls, who 12 years ago made their debut in burlesque, and then prospered in vaudeville, are as entertaining as when they appeared here two years ago in "Monte Cristo," which the latter is refreshing and their parodies are clever.

Others that played were the five "Kings of Syncopation," who gave many encores; and Joe Towle with his piano and hokum. Ford and Goodrich dance, sing and burlesque phases of home life. Charlie de Haven and Fred Nee are here with more foolishness. Japanese acrobats and a novel trained animal complete the bill.

BURIAL OF DR. W. A. HARDAWAY, DERMATOLOGIST AND AUTHOR

The funeral of Dr. William A. Hardaway, 73 years old, who died Saturday night of a heart attack, was held today from the family residence, 4527 Maryland, at 2 o'clock. He was a noted dermatologist and was the author of several medical text books on the subject. He was graduated from the Missouri Medical College and held honorary degrees from St. Louis University and Westminster College. He served one term as president of the American Dermatological Association.

Dr. Hardaway's first book was "Essentials of Vaccination," which appeared in 1882. This was followed by "Manual of Skin Diseases," and later by other works.

TINY "OLIVER TWIST" BOY STAR'S BEST ROLE

Bebe Daniels Stunning in "The World's Applause"—Arllis in Double Role.

"OLIVER TWIST," with Jackie Coogan in the title role, the current feature offering at the Grand Central, West End Lyric and Capitol theaters, is in every way a notable production. The wonder boy of the screen again demonstrates his remarkable acting ability and plays his part so well that before the action has proceeded very far we forget that Dickens' Oliver was several years older than Jackie, and we settle back in our seats and accept 8-year-old Oliver Twist, whose wistful eyes and cute ways win instant sympathy.

It would be saying too much to assert that this film version of the great novel is a faithful reproduction of the book. It is rather a skillful illustrated condensation which retains the salient points and principal characters and eliminates the prolixity of its mid-Victorian author.

The points retained are that Oliver, the poor house waif, is in reality an heir under the terms of a will which specifies that he shall inherit a large estate if he does nothing to disgrace his name. A scheming half-brother, seeking the estate, deliberately plots to make a crook of Oliver. That is where Fagin and the Artful Dodger come in.

Fagin, the trainer of pickpockets, is played by Lon Chaney. It is a rather colorless impersonation. Far better, visually and dramatically, is George Siegmann's interpretation of the role of Bill Sikes, the burglar. He might have stepped right out of the book. Gladys Brockwell is the Nancy Sikes of the cast. Here also is a notable characterization. The seducing of her is the period of the picture in its fine photography and settings.

Walshall as a Dericlet.
Melodramatic and at times exciting is "The Face on the Bar-room Floor" at the Liberty with Henry B. Walthall in the leading role. The principal scenes are laid in a saloon with cutbacks to illustrate the story told by a down-and-out artist who drifts in and is made sport of by the other customers until they learn his real identity. He tells how he loved and lost a girl and then took to drink. Under a false accusation he went to prison, but in the course of an outbreak he prevented another convict from shooting the Governor. There is a realistic storm scene illustrating his story of how he drifted in and is made sport of by the other customers until they learn his real identity. The Rev. W. G. Johnston, speaking at the Lillian Avenue Christian Church, stated "St. Louis will fail to reach the zenith of her glory if her citizens refuse their co-operation in voting the funds necessary to carry out the ideals, both beautiful and practical, which have been wisely set before her for accomplishment."

Arguments in some quarters that the street improvements would benefit only the downtown business district were refuted by Harland Bartholomew, engineer of the City Plan Commission, in an address last night at Sheldon Memorial before the Community Forum. The value of property in outlying sections is enhanced, he stated, when improvements of this nature are made, because transportation time is reduced and those sections are brought closer to the downtown section in the point
of time spent in travel.

Adoption of all the items was urged by W. Frank Carter, chairman of the General Council on Civic Needs,
in a talk last night at the Delmonte Theater. The complete program describes the support of every voter, he stated, "because it is based on four considerations—your duty to those less fortunate than you, to your health and the health of your children, to the city of St. Louis and to its business."

REGINALD McKENNA, head of the largest bank in the world,
says that "Splendid isolation is a dream; a truth which every industrial leader accepts as axiomatic. Had he substituted monopoly for isolation he would have expressed another self evident truth which would have been acclaimed by every man who has given serious thought to the development of business on a large scale.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana)
is a big business striving to do a big job in a big way, yet no thought is given to achieving a monopoly: for those who direct the company's activities know that in any basic industry
such an ambition is impossible of fulfillment. Competition is welcome, for no single organization can hope to serve the people of the Middle West with petroleum products as they should be served. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) enjoys a large volume of business and is satisfied to let this volume take care of its profits.

There is a reciprocal bond between every great industrial organization and the social environment in which it operates. An organization is truly great only when the service it renders is great.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is in daily contact with a community of about 80 million people.

It serves them through a host of useful products refined from petroleum. Through these products it touches the home and industrial life of the people. It enters the sick chamber with mineral oil and petroleum jelly. It enters the factory, the roundhouse, and the farmyard with lubricating oils for machines, engines, and tractors. It seeks the farm home with gasoline, kerosene, candles and parowax. It touches the railroad right of way with Fortnite Long Time Burner Oil for signal lamps; it supplies thousands of public and private garages with gasoline and lubricants. It feeds the furnaces of homes and factories with Stanolind Furnace Oil. It goes to the hospital with Stanolind Surgical Wax. It paves the streets with Stanolind Paving Asphalt.

These are but a few of the avenues of service which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) maintains. To keep these avenues open the Company operates 1700 service stations, 8000
bulk stations, 7000 tank wagons serving thousands of garages, and 6 great refineries to supply their needs.

Thus does the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)
acknowledge its reciprocal bond, and by creating a host of useful, essential products from a single basic raw material—crude petroleum—justify its claim to master craftsmanship in industrial husbandry.

AMERICAN HISTORY FOR CHILDREN

War of 1812 Was Natural Outcome of Many Years of Ill-Feeling Between America and England

British Searched U. S. Ships at Sea.
By HENDRIK VAN LOON
Author of "The Story of Mankind."

THE War of 1812, between the United States and England, was the natural outcome of many years of ill-feeling between the two nations, caused by England's attitude in regard to American commerce upon the high seas. That you may clearly understand the situation, we shall have to look for a moment at conditions upon the European Continent.

The French revolution had come to an end and Napoleon, as the leader of the French people, was driving his victorious armies across Europe. The other nations of Europe were all trying hard to stop this mighty game of conquest, but none too successfully. One war followed closely upon another; one coalition of powers after another was formed against the terrible Corsican, and until the Battle of Waterloo, in 1815, England was almost constantly at war with France. The islands of the West Indies belonged partly to France and partly to England (some also belonged to Spain, but we are not concerned with these at the moment).

It was very necessary for both France and England to get certain supplies from these islands. As the United States was situated so near the West Indies, it was but natural that we should act as common carriers of these supplies to the warring nations. The trouble commenced as far back as 1794, when England seized all American ships trading with the French West Indies. The London Government maintained that she had a perfect right to seize neutral ships, which were loaded with French goods. The United States, on the other hand, claimed that goods loaded on neutral ships thereby became neutral goods, and that England had no right whatever to touch them. Public feeling ran high, and the Republican party wanted war.

Congress indeed went so far as to authorize the erection of fortifications and to levy a force of 80,000 militia, to be called out in case of need. But President Washington, who was very anxious to keep his young country out of war until it should have grown a little stronger, sent John Jay to England to see if he could not get England to give us a new commercial treaty, and promise not to molest our ships any further. The Jay treaty was not a startling success, from the American point of view. We were not to be allowed to carry West Indian products to Europe, while British ships were to be unrestricted in American trade, and the Americans were to treat the English as "the most favored nation."

Besides restrictions laid by the English upon our foreign trade, we had a second and a very deep grievance. The British navy, being constantly at war, seems to have been none too gay and care-free. The food was terrible, the discipline was horribly severe, and the wages were very low. So that many brave British tars took advantage of shore leave in American ports to desert. Therefore the English began the practice of stopping American ships upon the high seas, and taking off them any men whom they suspected of being deserters. Now, one cannot tell an American from an Englishman just by looking at him. (In those days, the American accent was not as distinctive a mark of identification as it is today.) And the British deserters were usually careful to provide themselves with forged papers, proclaiming their American birth.

So mistakes were made, and many a loyal American citizen, born beneath the shadow of Plymouth Rock, was taken to England as a deserter, and spent the rest of his days scrubbing the decks of British men-of-war, and fighting the French.

SAYS COLEBIANS LAG BECAUSE THEY ARE NOT "NAGGED ON"

University of Chicago Dean Predicts Wooling Out of Unit Will Be Necessary Soon.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—The failure of college students is attributable to three causes, according to a survey made by University of Chicago officials. The most important, Dean Robertson says, is lack of purpose. Other reasons are bad training and inability to read intelligently.

As college students are not "nagged on" by teachers as in grade and high schools, he added, students having no particular aim naturally lag in their studies.

Dean Robertson predicted that soon only the select of American youth would have the privilege of a college education, because of the overcrowding and the corresponding necessity for weeding out the unfit.

ADVISES CHURCH ADVERTISING

Minister Says "Pulpit and Press Should Pull Together."

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Every church should set aside money to be used for newspaper advertising, the Rev. J. T. Bradner of the Committee on Cooperation and Advance of the Methodist Episcopal Church, declared in an address here yesterday.

"The church can send its message in the papers to non-church readers and to those of its members detained at home because of sickness, business and other causes," he said.

"The preacher speaks to hundreds, while the newspapers speak to thousands and millions. Church members should assist editors, but critics of editors and editorial policies should be harmful. The pulpit and press should pull together and not

Max Schramm, 47 years old, of 5294
St. Louis avenue, a locksmith, was found dead in his home from asphyxiation at 7:30 a. m. today by his wife. A gas heater in the room was turned on but not lighted.

Mrs. Schramm smelled gas while preparing breakfast and went to her husband's room and found him unconscious. Dr. C. M. Brown was called and pronounced Schramm dead from asphyxiation.

Fred Schramm, 29, a son was found unconscious at 4 p. m. yesterday in his garage at that address. He also was found by his mother and attended by Dr. Brown, who said he was suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning. He had started the engine of the automobile in the closed garage and inhaled the gas emitted by the exhaust. He was restored by Dr. Brown.

This is the second case of carbon monoxide poisoning in the last week, notwithstanding repeated warnings
by the Health Department against starting motors in closed garages.
Thomas Wickham, 5349 Pershing avenue, was similarly poisoned and found unconscious in his garage last Friday morning. He also was found in time to effect his recovery.

The Men and Women who will Spend the Bond Money

EVERY precaution has been taken for effective supervision in the expenditure of the Bond Issue funds. The public is protected against "loopholes," leaks and "playing favorites" in spending the bond money by the following safeguards:

- (1) A Citizens' Bond Supervisory Committee (whose names are given below) has been appointed to direct the expenditure of the bond issue funds.
- (2) This committee has been given all the legal power possible under our Charter by the Board of Aldermen, the law-making body of the city.
- (3) All proposals for expenditures under bond-issue funds will be submitted in advance to the committee for its approval.
- (4) The Board of Estimate and Apportionment will not approve any expenditure until it is endorsed by the committee.
- (5) No ordinance can be passed authorizing the letting of contracts for any part of the work without the Estimate Board's approval.

The men and women on the Citizens' Bond Supervisory Committee are well known, and have established reputations for honesty. They will not be influenced by city officials or politicians. They will serve without pay and have pledged themselves to devote the time necessary to consider all proposals for the expenditure of bond funds, pass on all bids for the work, and check up the payments after contracts are let. They will get a dollar value for every dollar spent.

The committee plan of supervision was successfully tried out in connection with the bond issue of two years ago. The work of the committee and co-operation of city officials has been above criticism. Not a dollar of these funds have been spent without the approval of the committee.

There is no politics involved in the Bond Issue. It is a strictly non-partisan, and the spending of the funds will be controlled by a committee of citizens. The various items were prepared after careful study by the City and Council of Civic Needs—a committee of citizens. It is submitted tonight, next Friday, as citizens, for your approval.

Vote for the entire bond issue—for the good of us all

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—There

war, Jack Dempsey, Harry Wille will have no hand in it. Wille has barred a Dempsey-Muldoon fight, but in doing so has opened a war that will involve politics.
Senator Jimmy Walker, dad
of the present boxing law, will oppose Muldoon's determination to fight Dempsey on the grounds that it is discrimination. Muldoon is a two-fisted scrapper and the denying the fact that he is represents himself. Muldoon represents himself. He did not box Dempsey and Wille in this State be-

Maldon Obdurate in New

POLITICS MAY BE INVOKED
Walker May Fight New York Commission's Edict Against Champion.
By Bert Igoe.
NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—There will be a heavyweight war, but the champion Jack Dempsey, Harry Wills, et al. will have no hand in it. William Wills, as firm a man as you'll find, has barred a Dempsey-Wills fight, but in doing so has started a fight that will involve politics. Dempsey's manager, Jimmy Walker, daddy of the present boxing law, will fight Wills' determination to bar Dempsey and Dempsey on the grounds that it is discrimination. Maldon went to a two-fisted scrapper and there is no denying the fact that he enjoys a smoke of battle. Walker is a fighter himself. Maldon repeated yesterday that he did not bar Dempsey and Wills in this State because of Wills' color.
"I just got so that decent people were coming to look upon this heavyweight noise as a common nuisance. I have no feeling but the best of Wills. He's a clean, hard-working fellow, hard-working too." Maldon went on to say that he was ready for any old kind of an attack from those who thought his views any but for the best interests of boxing.
Jack Kearns had nothing to say; Joe Sanderson was not inclined to.

O'Rourke Bid Due Today.
Kearns is to meet Tom O'Rourke the Dempsey headquarters at 2 o'clock today to break the seal on the "bids." Under the circumstances O'Rourke would seem to be in the first skirmish when Fort Maldon is besieged. Kearns is not tickled over the sudden determination of the boxing commission chairman to put the hammer on Dempsey's activities. He says a golden harvest going up in smoke. There is a haven, however, on the other side of the Hudson river in Jersey City.
Just how far the New Jersey boxing board will go beyond the edict of the Empire State commission is the question. Louis Messano, chairman of the New Jersey board, says he will not bar even Wills and Dempsey, if Jess shows up well before a jury of experts. He is not barred Wills or hinted that he will.

Charley White Bobs Up.
Charley White steps out into the night lights of opportunity this evening in Madison Square Garden, and because to move up on Benny Leonard presents itself.
The career of the successful left hooker Rocky Kansas on Friday night in a 12-round bout. If Charley Kansas—that is to say, Charley White—is to stay, it is a long time in less time than it took Leonard to turn the trick, who then says his manager will say that he is not the man to meet the champion this summer when he gets his action again?
Kansas broke his arm on Leonard's left jab in Chicago. It is only now that Kansas has been able to use it effectively. There was a time when Kansas looked up at the famous champion and said, "I don't want to fight him." He went through all of the usual challenges, one after another, but then met the champion himself. White maintains that he is not going too much in urging a rematch with Leonard. He will wait until he is the victim of a fight and when he sent the champion through the ropes and into the stands at Benton Harbor. He says that Phil Bloom has been told that Leonard nine times, Dundee ten times, Kansas four times and Welling and Riche Mitchell twice.

Eight Players Still Have Chance to Win in Interstate Billiards.
Eight players remain in the running in the Interstate Three-Cushion Billiard League tournament. Harry Layton of St. Louis is in second place, on the heels of Tiff Denney of Kansas City.
John Reisel of Philadelphia furnished the thrill of last week's play when he forced his way forward to last place. He has won 11 out of 12 games, and has a comparatively easy schedule before him. One of the 14 contestants have run records of 10 or better, and players have won games in which they averaged one or better.

Washington Favored to Beat Sooner Five; Pickers Most Improved.
The Piker basketball team will enter the Oklahoma Sooners at Norman tonight in their second clash of the season. Coach Applegran's men defeated the Sooners in their first game three weeks ago. The Sooners won 25 to 24, and the issue was as close as the game closed.

Victors Dethrone Rivals From Leadership in the League Race by Score of 2 to 1—Bechtold, Nolan and Bentley Out of the Defeated Team's Lineup.
By Dent McSkimming.
When the day comes, as it must, when the Scullin soccer team begins to wane, St. Louis will not be without a great eleven to carry on the fight for national supremacy. We then will have the Vespers.

Yesterday at High School Field this organization defeated the national champions, 2 goals to 1. Through the greater part of the game the Scullins were on the defensive, and even when they carried that final dash which has characterized their play in recent games, they were unable to penetrate successfully the area guarded by Charlie La Barge. The Ben Millers suffered an unexpected reverse at the hands of the Hoovers in the first game of the afternoon. The score was 1 to 0, the only goal of the game being scored in the first half by "Beno" Ballam. Of the two contests the second was the more exciting and probably the more productive of the better soccer. In justice to the champions, it must be borne in mind that they were without the services of Charlie Bechtold, at outside right, Jimmy Nolan at left halfback and George Bentley at left fullback. All of the substitutes, Danny Murphy, Scherman and Al Oberle, played good football. But it takes something more than good football to beat the Vespers.

Wasem Defeats Carl Armbruster

Former Wrestling Champion on the Aggressive Throughout Interesting Match.
Al Wasem, former lightweight champion of the world, won from Carl Armbruster in the feature match of a wrestling show at the Rock Springs Turner hall yesterday afternoon. Wasem took two straight falls, the first of which required 57 minutes and the second 58 minutes. Wasem was of note some years ago as a wrestling champion. Armbruster proved a worthy opponent but he had not sufficient strength or skill to get Wasem at a disadvantage. Both falls were gained with arm scissors holds. Joe Sanderson won a decision over Young Carter in the semifinal. Carter was substituting for William Martin who failed to go on because of injuries sustained in practice. Elton Easterday, weighing 125 pounds, threw Earl A. Sanders, 140 pounds, in 26 minutes. "Def" Pearce won an exciting one-fall match from Chester McCormack in 17 minutes.

GEORGE TEBEAU, FORMER BASEBALL PLAYER AND CLUB OWNER IS DEAD

DENVER, Col., Feb. 5.—George Tebeau, minor and major league baseball player of note some years ago and later owner of the Kansas City American Association baseball franchise, died at a local hospital yesterday morning following an illness of more than two weeks duration. Tebeau, a brother of the famous Pat Tebeau, was born in St. Louis in 1861. He spent the younger years of his life in the Goose Hill district, which has produced many baseball stars. When a young man Tebeau came to Denver where he played semi-professional baseball.

Amateur Show Thursday

The St. Louis Athletic Club announces that it will hold a boxing show for amateurs at the Carondelet Turner Hall, Michigan and Robert streets, on Thursday evening. Trainer and Matchmaker Charles Courtney will receive the entries of prospective participants.

Champions Win Again

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 5.—Gene Sarazen, national open golf champion, and Jack Hutchinson defeated Jim Simpson of Omaha and Bob Simpson of Coronado, 4 up and 2 to go in a 36-hole match played over the San Diego Country Club course yesterday.

Deardoff Billiard Leader

The feature match of this week's play in the three-cushion championship tournament at Peterson's should be that between Deardoff and Hall, scheduled for tomorrow evening. Deardoff leads the field with four victories and no defeats.

kettle of meat was today, with inquiry centering on the better quality of the horses sold at auction and several sales mules were reported on the alleys. A

London Wool Auction.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The offerings at the wool auction sales today amounted to 12
bales. Medium-grade wools were slow, fine, greasy merinos and best wools
were slow.

RAILROAD SHARES LEAD IN ACTIVE STOCK MARKET

Advances of Point or More in Late Trade With Consistent Gains in Industrials—
Bonds Firm—Liberty Issues Firm.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"A distinct shifting of professional interest from commodities and foreign exchange into the stock market was apparent today. Activity in the former cases was on a modest scale
and price movement was in conclusion, whereas stocks showed an increased turnover and marked strength. After irregular first half hour the list turned firm under the leadership of the rails and industrials showed smaller but consistent gains.
Bonds were higher and call money held at 4 1/2 per cent throughout.

Exchange Market Irregular.

"Uncertainty in the foreign exchange market at London on the basis of the break-up of the Lausanne conference was followed by a good recovery on this side of the water. Thus sterling, which had fallen back 1 1/2 cents at London to $4.65, rallied here to $4.67. French francs, after dropping 2 1/2 points
to 16.23 cents were off only 2 points on the day at 16.21 cents. Belgian francs acted similarly and most of the neutrals were firm, but the quotation on German marks slipped back 2 points at 9.02 1/2 cents. Taken as a whole offerings were scanty and demand was good. The market's action suggested but a more cheerful attitude toward the France-German difficulty and second thoughts to the effect that the rupture with the Turks may not be the last word in these negotiations after all.

"Reports to the Geological Survey show that the production of soft coal is continuing to hold steady in the neighborhood of 1,000,000 tons a week. Some slight softening in the soft coal market has been noticed recently, but the explanation lying partly in the feeling that a strike on April 1 has now been avoided."

By a Special Correspondent of Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—For the first half of the session today the stock market had to take some heavy realizing sales. These began about during the first hour of trading, and continued for a half hour or more. The reaction of a half point at a point in the recent speculative movement. But as the session progressed the speculative element regained its full confidence and a strong movement started.

Railway stocks were equally prominent with the individuals and the whole market continued active. Strong right up to the end, the prices being reached just before the close. Corn Products and American among the industrials and the D. and St. Paul preferred among the stocks stood out conspicuously in the trading. New high records were made in Mack Truck, Stewart Warner and the can shares.

The Bond Market.

Nothing compared today in significance with the rise in Liberty Bonds. The fourth Liberty 4½s, coming with last week's low price of 97½, while the second 4½s were above 97½ after having been 97.53 a few days before. United States Treasury bonds of 1952 were above par. The concrete value of acceptance by Great Britain of the debt-funding plan was found in an appreciation of the market of Liberties since Thursday, of nearly $150,000,000.

The buoyancy of our own Government in a measure overshadowed the disappointment in foreign governments listed in New York caused by the failure of Turkey to sign the treaty at Lausanne. This naturally led to some pessimism over the outlook in Eastern Europe.

Furthermore the advance of French forces farther into Germany affected French bonds though such an advance as they had in the week profit taking was to be expected.

COTTON FUTURES LOWER ON NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Relatively Liverpool cables and nervousness over the political situation had an adverse effect on the cotton market at the opening today. Opening prices showed a decline of 27 to 30 points under commodity liquidation. Southern and local cottons carried the price of May off to 20 and October to 20.00. Trade interest centered on the break, while there was considerable covering and a quick rally of 10 points in the Liverpool market had a notable effect on sentiment here. As the session progressed the early trading volume of business tapered off, and the market was rather uncertain with waiting for further news from Europe.

The New York market opened at 28.18 for May and 28.27 for October during the middle of the morning, about 25 to 30 points from the low of within 7 to 10 points of Saturday's quotations. The demand then tapered off, however, and the market met further selling liquidation late in the morning, May working off to about 28.00 around noon, or 28 points net lower. The Liverpool market was steady at the close but a lighter reported dullness in both yards.

The break extended to 27.80 for May during the early afternoon. It seemed to be taken more readily at the figures, however, and there were rather bullish southern spot advices which helped around 28.10 shortly after 3 o'clock when the general list was 12 to 20 net lower.

-- Temple Bailey to Write -- Book With Scene in St. Louis

Successful Writer Thinks City Has Much Romance and Other Suitable Material for Novel.

By MARQUETTE MARTIN.

THE most successful woman novelist now residing in St. Louis is Miss Temple Bailey, with six best sellers to her credit and a new book, "The Dim Lantern," just off the press—which bids fair to outrank its predecessors in popularity.

Many of her readers have got the idea that Miss Bailey belongs to Washington. Since the setting of so many of her books is in that locality and since she seems to know the permanent social life of the Capital, it is not surprising that she has been called the "Miss Bailey of Washington."

Marquette Martin writes past has done her most serious work here while making her home with a sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Dunn, 501 Clara avenue, who has come to regard this as her official residence. She intends now to remove any erroneous impression with regard to her home by making the scene of her next book St. Louis.

"St. Louis, with its distinctive history and social traditions and its mixture of French and German ancestry, offers an attractive theme which I intend to try my hand at developing," said Miss Bailey in an interview the other day. "In our so-called materialistic America there is much romance that is yet unmined."

River Appeals to Her.
"The Middle West is barren of any tale of cities which swings to the tune of up-to-date washbuckling events. The fact that men do not wear armor is no evidence of a lack of red blood. The duel is out, perhaps, but fighting is still in. We have doffed our swords for other weapons. But we remain true to the spirit of the old. Boogymen, Ku Klux-buccannars, outlaws, pirates of the present model. In St. Louis the status of the patron saint stands on a hill which is a veritable city packed full of possibilities for the writer with the seeing eye. It is practically undiscovered literary country. And the river, with its revived traffic, affords to my imagination as a force to be reckoned with in future stories."

Miss Bailey's novels are to be classified as romance, pure and simple. She does not strive to be a realist, or to discover seaminess and ugliness which seem to be the chief requisites of the realistic novel. At the same time, either her books must be realistic, true to life, or else real life is fuller of romance than it is credited with being. To account for the fact that not one of her productions but has elicited letters from unknown correspondents telling her that she has captured situations identical with their own experiences. One correspondent wrote to tell her that in her "Miss Anne" she had presented the problem with which he was confronted in situations that strikingly paralleled his own. He was a young doctor torn between the desire of his sweetheart that he take up his profession in her city and the duty which called him to carry on his father's work in a country community. He told the author how her solution of the problem in the book had convinced him of the course he should take. Much later, after he was married, he wrote again to tell her that his fiancée also had been convinced by "Miss Anne" and to thank Temple Bailey for the book that really had been the instrument of bringing his love affair to a happy conclusion.

Possibly it is not that Miss Bailey chooses purely romantic material for her fiction, but that there is always romance in real life if we will look for it.

As a rule, Miss Bailey's books deal with the modern young person, male and female, but whatever faults others everywhere are finding with the present generation, this author contends that fundamentally the instincts of youth are now the same as they have always been.

The heroine of "The Dim Lantern" is a bobbed-haired miss, given to colorful sports clothes, slang, a yearning for the good things of life which money will buy, a thoroughly modern girl. Her problem is to choose between a man of the world who is eager to shower the blessings of wealth upon her, and a lover returned from the wars, not yet rehabilitated in body and spirit.

Anyone who has read a Temple Bailey novel will guess that she makes the more romantic choice, whichever that may be.

Through many spirited episodes the author employs familiar modern incidents such as Ford's and Lincoln's, a roadhouse, a newspaper scandal, a snob, sensation mongers, a double-dealing blonde stenographer, a social arena, all of which are devoted to a great extent of their popular significance, and one is made to sympathize, at the same time, with the wholehearted, honest scenes and perceive in all the principal participants in the several heart entanglements—whether in the speedier society of the Capital or the more intimately life of the suburbs—a survival of the old-fashioned virtues and stability of character.

How to Give a Charmingly-New Valentine Party

By WANDA BARTON

HAVE you ever eaten under the shade of a lollipop tree or trod the brown sugar paths of a marzipan garden? Probably you have not. St. Valentine's night is an excellent time to enjoy such a novel experience. This is how it is done:

Of course, if you have young people of your own, or can borrow some, you are going to have a St. Valentine's party. The sweet garden is the answer to the refreshment question.

First, have the carpenter make a round or oval table-top of convenient size. Cover it with paper padding and green cambric or felt. Now cover the top with moss and plant a small paper tree, two feet tall, firmly in the center of the table, with lollipop blossoms hanging from all its branches.

Next, shape garden beds by making brown-sugar paths in different directions like those in a real garden. Mark the corners with tiny gum-drop shrubs, growing sweetly in wee, green pots.

The mystery this garden produces is that everything is ripe at the same time, regardless of season or climate. There are a bed of yellow bananas, a bunch of real ones, wonderful mushrooms, the reddest of radishes, green peas, perky yellow carrots, cucumbers, top onions, lettuce, tomatoes, potatoes, Brussels sprouts, strawberries, apples and grapes, all harmoniously growing side by side.

On a little bench under the tree are wonderful bouquets of gum-drop flowers, all edged with lace paper, one for every girl at the party.

In the paths are piles of candied rose and mint leaves, raised up with little gump cakes by the most remarkable-looking raisin-and-fig gardeners with legs suspiciously like whinnies.

On a small table under the tree are fat sausages and sauerkraut which grow cooked and ready to eat.

Little market baskets of the newest sweets are waiting to be carried off as soon as the guests are ready.

"That you, Miss Jerrild! What's the trouble?"

"Oh, I'm so sorry to bother you with my foolishness, but mother promised to take me to the service, and now she can't come, and I'm so disappointed! I just dote on music."

(This was a fib, for Violet didn't know the difference between G sharp and B flat. She had no ear and no interest in music beyond the latest "jazz" for dancing parties.)

The young woman hoped that Murray would offer to escort her. But he did nothing of the sort. Disappointment and a hint of petulance drove Violet to the service, and she said—oh, please don't think me bold, but I'm so longing not to miss it—she said maybe you'd meet me there, and we could go in together.

Her listener hesitated.

Morning services in company with the fluty Miss Violet was something he had never contemplated. Her presence would strike a discord, as it were.

And yet he couldn't tell her so. And he had made his arrangements to go in any case. His hat and gloves were lying on the table, beside the telephone, waiting to be picked up.

He brought the dilemma to an end by saying quickly and in a most business-like and unromantic tone, that he would meet her at the entrance of the building in half an hour's time.

Violet was quite enough to realize that a coquettish attitude would only make her lose the game.

Therefore, when he encountered her at the sponser's, she was meek and rather downcast.

During the service she took part in the responses with a fervor that

From Mrs. Wakeland she learned that the young man went to St. Thomas' nearly every Sunday morning.

So she made up a pretty little story, and telephoned it to him.

In her very best, cool, rather plaintive tones, she rang him up on Sunday morning.

"Just about the time that he was going to start for church."

She was so disappointed, and would he do her a great, great favor? Please!

"That you, Miss Jerrild! What's the trouble?"

"Oh, I'm so sorry to bother you with my foolishness, but mother promised to take me to the service, and now she can't come, and I'm so disappointed! I just dote on music."

The young woman hoped that Murray would offer to escort her. But he did nothing of the sort.

Disappointment and a hint of petulance drove Violet to the service, and she said—oh, please don't think me bold, but I'm so longing not to miss it—she said maybe you'd meet me there, and we could go in together.

Her listener hesitated.

Morning services in company with the fluty Miss Violet was something he had never contemplated. Her presence would strike a discord, as it were.

And yet he couldn't tell her so. And he had made his arrangements to go in any case. His hat and gloves were lying on the table, beside the telephone, waiting to be picked up.

He brought the dilemma to an end by saying quickly and in a most business-like and unromantic tone, that he would meet her at the entrance of the building in half an hour's time.

Violet was quite enough to realize that a coquettish attitude would only make her lose the game.

Therefore, when he encountered her at the sponser's, she was meek and rather downcast.

During the service she took part in the responses with a fervor that surprised him, and made him think that perhaps he ought to revise his opinion of her.

And—luckily—she refrained from joining in the singing. For she had no "voice" and no ear.

But Murray didn't know that fact.

When they emerged into the sunlight of a spring morning he was better pleased with her than he had ever been before.

And when—unexpectedly and, so it seemed, spontaneously—she clung to him in the moving crowds that poured out of the church, and begged him timidly to get a taxi, to avoid the rush, he felt rather protective towards the frail little creature and bent his head down to reassure her, feeling himself a big strong fellow, and that it was a man's privilege to look after the weaker sex.

At that psychological moment, Cynthia had seen the pair, and, naturally, misunderstood.

But he was ignorant of the fact that Cynthia had seen him.

Violet, however, realized she had, and was correspondingly pleased.

As she sat in Mrs. Wakeland's drawing-room on that sunny afternoon, she decided in her own mind that if this pretty little miss from nowhere (people not in Violet's "set" invariably hailed from "nowhere") were setting her cap at Murray Stewart, she—the fascinating Violet Jerrild—would soon show her just how futile were her hopes.

She commenced a light and airy conversation with the young man, on a topic that definitely excited Cynthia.

But, to her chagrin, she found him inattentive. He replied with monosyllables, and, at the first opportunity, turned his head away from her in Cynthia's direction.

She was left in the cold, where he was concerned.

Other people in the room were only too anxious to talk with her. Violet was the only child of fairly rich parents, and—despite her would-be babyish ways, which were merely assumed in effect—a leader in a certain amount of influence.

The woman who had snubbed on the church-going question was the one one, apart from Cynthia and Murray Stewart, who did not want to listen to her.

Meantime, the man on whom she'd set her forward mind ("heart") would be an inappreciable term, for Violet didn't possess such a useless organ) had his back half turned to her, and was deep in conversation with the pretty miss from nowhere.

It was very galling knowledge. Especially after what she considered was the morning's success. She strained her ears to hear what they were saying.

But she couldn't catch the words. Twice did she attempt to direct the young man's attention. Her best efforts failed, however.

Miss Violet's smile, however, was more resolutely sweet than ever. She had noticed an amused gleam in the eyes of "Gerties," the woman she had snubbed. That was as a red rag to a bull.

HEROINES of HISTORY

Significant Incidents in the Lives of Famous Women

By MARK STUYVESANT

What Lady Grey's Royal Blood Brought the Nine Days' Queen

LADY Jane Grey had not been the great-granddaughter of King Henry VIII, and the great-niece of Henry VIII, of England, she might have lived the wholesome, happy life of a young English girl.

But because she had this strain of royal blood in her veins her life was difficult and her death tragic.

Before Henry VII died he mentioned Lady Jane as a possible heir to the throne of England. This announcement fired her father, the Marquis of Dorset, with ambition. He really did not love his daughter very much. In her he saw only an instrument to elevate his position and increase his power.

To equip her properly to be a queen, the little girl's education was started. And it was a rigorous schooling through which she was obliged to struggle. There was not much time for play. She did not have the fun for which she naturally was hungry. Instead of romping and playing with her dolls, she spent hours in studying not only all the modern languages, but wrestling with Hebrew and even Chaldean.

Lady Jane had a natural social gift. When she was 19 years old, her beauty and charm won for her many friends at court. So attractive was this little lady that the Dowager Queen became fascinated with her and asked to have her attached to her person as a lady-in-waiting. Lady Jane remained in this office at court for several years.

When Lady Jane was 14 her tricky father was made Duke of Suffolk, and was summoned to court. He thought his charming daughter could help him. So Lady Jane went to court again.

At this time, another schemer was at court in the person of the Duke of Northumberland, who had declared that he would marry Lady Jane.

Northumberland's ambition was to have the King's daughter as the wife of his son. Jane's ambitious father and he knew that this girl was the only one who could bring her nothing but sorrow and poverty, begged to be allowed to decline it.

The marriage of Lady Jane and Northumberland was celebrated with much pomp and ceremony in the palace.

Unfortunately for Lady Jane, the result was war. Mary Tudor, who did not love Lady Jane, was crowned queen. She was a powerful woman, and she was a schemer. She was a schemer, and she was a schemer.

But two other women were at court. They were Lady Jane and her husband. They were Lady Jane and her husband. They were Lady Jane and her husband.

They were Lady Jane and her husband. They were Lady Jane and her husband. They were Lady Jane and her husband.

They were Lady Jane and her husband. They were Lady Jane and her husband. They were Lady Jane and her husband.

Northumberland, the most famous man in England. He met the King, had declared them illegitimate, and immediately she was the wife of his son. She knew that this girl might be the Queen of England, and she was very convenient to be in-law.

The marriage of them who did not love each other was celebrated with much ceremony in the palace of VI.

Unfortunately for Lady Jane, who did not love each other, she was married to a man who was a ward VI died seven weeks after the marriage. Before his death, Northumberland turned sheepishly and the powerful faction. He himself named Mary Queen. Jane and her boy husband were hurried into the Tower of London. They were swiftly convicted of treason and sentenced to be beheaded.

Jane had been a queen nine days when she was led out to face the headsman. She had tried so hard to do what was expected of her. She was a heroine even in her unjust and merciless death. She walked calmly to the scaffold. Even after she was blindfolded Lady Jane was brave. She groped around blindly, pitifully asking where the block was that she might lay her head on it herself. She was just 17 when she was executed on the same block which was wet with the blood of the boy to whom she had been married—and all because she happened to have royal blood in her veins.

SAVORY OYSTERS

DRAIN and dry three dozen freshly-opened oysters. Dip each oyster into a half-cupful of heavy cream, then into finely rolled and seasoned crumbs. Place the oysters on a well buttered baking pan and sprinkle them with finely minced bacon. Dust them with paprika and place them in a hot oven for seven or eight minutes. Serve on a hot platter, garnished with toast sippets dipped in melted butter with lemon juice and a few drops of onion juice added to it. Sprinkle the oysters with chopped parsley.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

The Return Home

By Thornton W. Burgess

Just home! That is enough for me. Just home! It is the only place to be.

—Peter Rabbit.

WHILE the storm lasted Peter Rabbit, Mrs. Peter and Old Jed Thumper remained right where they were in a certain bramble-tangle in the Old Pasture. There was some protection in there and they didn't dare go out for a better place. You see, they didn't know where Shadow the Weasel might be. It was well for their peace of mind that they didn't know how close to them Shadow passed on his way to the Green Forest.

When the storm was over Peter and Mrs. Peter put their heads together and tried to decide what to do. Old Jed Thumper, the big gray rabbit who is the father of little Mrs. Peter, invited them to stay in the Old Pasture. Peter didn't want to stay there, but he didn't say so at once. You see, he thought that perhaps little Mrs. Peter would want to stay because it was there that she had lived until she met Peter. So he waited for her to speak first.

"I want to go home," said she. "I want to go home right away to the dear Old Briar Patch. Do you suppose it is safe for us to go right away, Peter?"

Peter scratched a long ear with a long hindfoot and made the tip of his "Whibly little nose" wobble very fast. "I really don't know, my dear," said he. "I guess it is as safe there as it is here, for the last we saw of Shadow the Weasel was up here. Don't you want to stay here awhile, Fuzzy?"

Mrs. Peter shook her head most decidedly. "No," said she. "I don't. I'm homesick. If you want to know, yes, sir, I'm homesick. Can't we start right now, Peter?"

Peter looked up at the sky, where stars were twinkling down brightly between scurrying clouds. "Well," said he, "if we really are going back I think the sooner we start the better. Reddy and Mrs. Fox and Old Man Coyote will be starting out hunting soon, if they haven't started out already. If you really want to go, my dear, follow me."

So they thanked Old Jed Thumper for his help in getting away from Shadow the Weasel, then started down through the Old Pasture. The Peter Rabbit led the way and little Mrs. Peter kept right at his heels.

From end to end and side to side of the dear Old Briar Patch they hopped along their private little paths. Not a footprint was to be found in the soft, new snow. Then together they gave a gentle sigh of relief. How good it was to be home!

"There's no place like it," Peter said. "No place like it," whispered little Mrs. Peter. Peter agreed. But when he thought of what might have happened there had they not left it when they saw Shadow the Weasel coming, he shivered a little, and it wasn't cold that made him shiver.

RAISIN FRITTERS

S OAK one scant cup of grated stale sponge cake in one cupful of boiling milk and when cool, stir in one teaspoonful of cornstarch moistened with a little cold milk. Heat all together to the boiling point, remove from the fire and add a few grains of salt. Beat the yolks of three eggs until lemon-colored and blend with two tablespoonsful of powdered sugar. Add this to the cake mixture, whip in one tablespoonful of tart jelly, half a cupful of seeded raisins and the stiffly-whipped egg whites. Fry quickly by the large spoonful in deep hot fat and roll while hot in powdered sugar.

Peter led the way and little Mrs. Peter kept right at his heels. She was so close that sometimes the snow from his heels flew in her face. Nothing happened. They reached the dear Old Briar Patch safely. Mrs. Peter started to push past Peter. She was in a hurry to get in the dear Old Briar Patch, but Peter wouldn't let her. He insisted on going first, for fear there might be danger of some kind.

MAXIMS OF A MODEERN MAID

By MARGUERITE MOORE MARSHALL

(Copyright, 1923.)

A WOMAN'S idea of making hay while the sun shines is to tell her husband that she really needs new dancing slippers and some sport things and an evening coat whenever he comes across peacefully with the paces of a new hat.

Any normal woman would rather have her husband tell her a clever lie than hurt her feelings, but any normal husband's lies are so stupid that they make his wife suffer as much as the truth.

Yes, Dorothea. Nero was a terrible villain, but at least he probably didn't enrage all his friends by putting on "The early morning in the best part of the day," and "I take a cold plunge three hundred and sixty-five days in the year."

In courtship, a woman magnifies her lover's virtues; after marriage, she sees them through the wrong end of the telescope.

"Women," mused the cynic, "are vain things—and still the grand piano legs heroically appear in all the stockings with circular stripes, while all the longitudinal-striped ones are spotted by the pipe-stems!"

It's odd, but not the most virtuous young man ever bothers to explain his preference for the "natural" complexion to the girl whose complexion is sallowly "natural"—and unattractive.

"Well," one imagines all the stingy husbands in creation enunciating, "if you'd had that stickpin you wanted you might have lost it the way the lady lost her five-hundred-thousand-dollar jewels. You women are that careless!"

When a woman scolds a man for not making more money, her anger is really directed, in nine cases out of ten, against the employers who fail to appreciate him. But they're out of reach—and HE'S handy!

In life's subway train the young keep right on falling in love—no matter how many disillusioned and elderly "guards" caution them to "watch their step."

When a man tells a woman that he is at her feet she immediately sets out to prove it by walking all over him.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB.

AN ANSWER RIGHT OFF THE ICE.

JUST before he started on that famous Arctic expedition of his which was crowned with success, the late Admiral Robert E. Peary boarded a train at New Orleans. He settled down in the smoking compartment to enjoy a cigar. Presently there entered a rather self-sufficient young man who took the seat adjoining and, following a custom much in vogue on American railroad trains, proceeded to engage Peary in conversation.

"Well," he began, "I'm off on a long, hard trip."

"Yes?" is that all?" said Peary, politely.

"Yes. I go clear through to Louisville. Traveling far yourself?"

"Yes, a fair distance," said Peary.

"Well, I'm bound clear through to Louisville, as I was saying. Pretty tiresome trip, too—all the way through from New Orleans to Louisville."

"Probably so," agreed Peary.

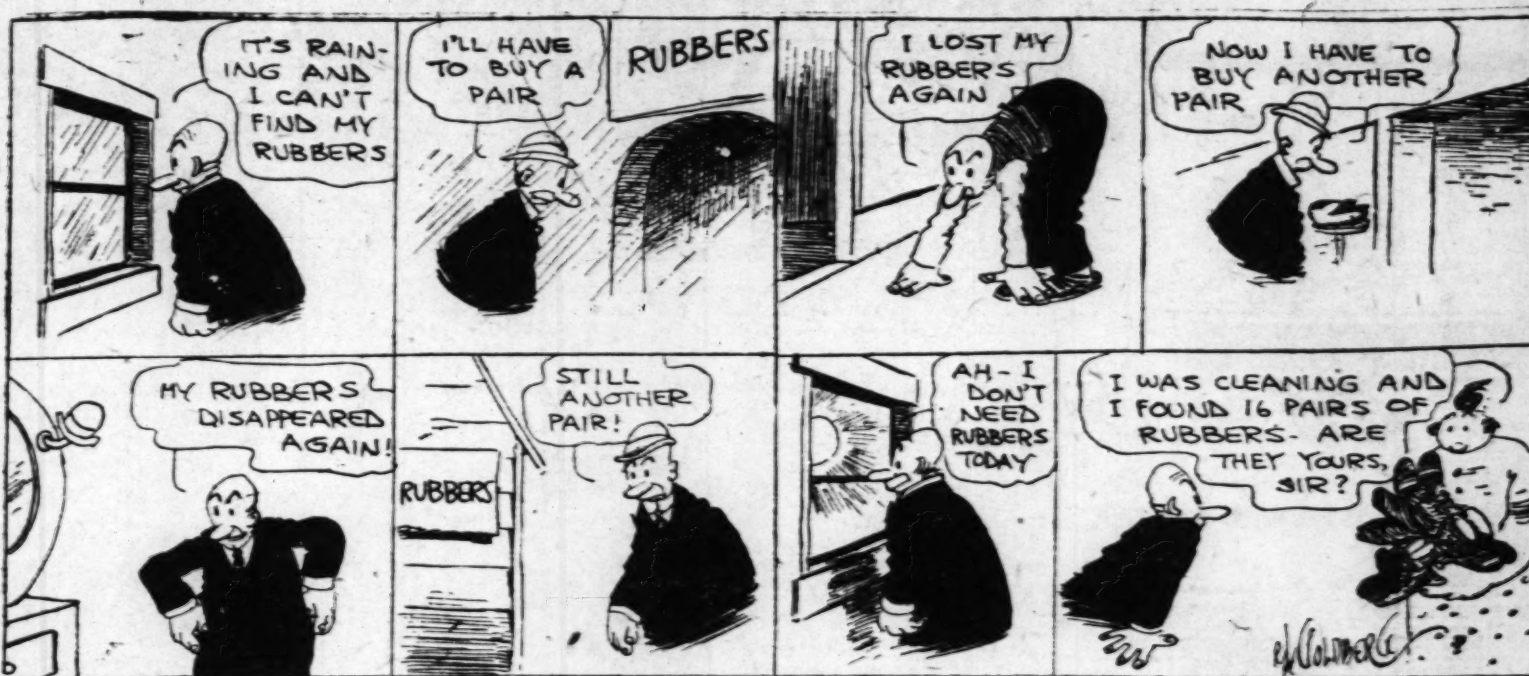

"By the way," said the young chap, "you didn't tell me where you were going."

"No," said Peary, "that's a fact; I didn't."

"Well, I don't suppose you're as used to traveling as I am," said the young fellow. "Whereabouts are you headed for, anyhow?"

"Me?" said Peary. "Oh, I'm going to the North Pole."

Mrs. Theresa de Blase, 37, proprietor of a grocery store, 5377 Manchester avenue, was robbed of $1000 by a man who stepped from a car and shot her in the back of the head. She was taken to the hospital and is now recovering from her wounds. The man who shot her is still at large.

As the men were escaping from the scene of the shooting, one of them was seen to carry a bag containing the stolen money. Mrs. de Blase's daughter, Theresa Smith, who was with her at the time, was also injured. She was taken to the hospital and is now recovering from her wounds. The man who shot her is still at large.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE DEBT FUNDING IS

Statement on Negotiating Great Britain Field
Least One Day

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—President Harding decided today to postpone until tomorrow, at the latest, his message to Congress recommending a modification of the debt fund to permit final approval of the settlement recently reached with Great Britain.

It was said at the White House that no definite time had yet been set for transmission of the recommendations, which had been expected to go out today. It was indicated, however, that the message would be sent to Congress as soon as possible.

Those who conferred with the president on the subject today predicted that he would act tomorrow and that he would send a statement to the messenger, instead of a message, to deliver it at a later date.
